I. Introduction

1

Plaintiff Desert Mountain Club, Inc. ("Club") joined in a motion for protective 2 order for the Club's Chief Operating Officer, Robert Jones ("Jones"), which the 3 Defendants have opposed. Notably Jones has not refused to testify and respond to 4 Defendants' questions. Rather, Jones has asked only that the Court issue an order: 5 (1) allowing disclosure of the Club's confidential and proprietary information, so that 6 Jones may comply with and avoid liability under non-disclosure clauses in his Settlement 7 Agreement with the Club's prior owner, Desert Mountain Development Corporation (the 8 "Developer") and his current Employment Agreement with the Club; and (2) restricting 9 public access to the Club's proprietary and confidential information. Defendants' 10 counsel rejected efforts by Jones and the Club to resolve these discovery issues, and acted 11 in a manner designed to escalate the dispute. See, e.g., TR at 00005:2-12:5, 84:1-12;¹ 12 Joinder in Robert Jones's Motion for Protective Order, Etc. (May 26, 2015) ("Joinder"), 13 Ex. 1. 14

Defendants assert that good cause does not exist to support a protective order, 15 based on conclusory statements and citing only Ariz. R. Civ. P. 26(c). Response to 16 Joinder, Etc. (June 4, 2015) ("Response") at 1-2. Defendants fail to rebut evidence that 17 Jones has contractual obligations to keep the terms of his settlement with the Developer 18 and related information confidential. Non-Party Robert Jones, II's Motion for Protective 19 Order ("Motion"), Ex. 1. As the Club's Chief Operating Officer, Jones is exposed to 20 confidential and proprietary information (e.g., financial and personal information of 21 individual Club members, personnel matters, Club financial matters, including 22 competitive pricing terms for different levels of equity membership, etc.), and his current 23 Employment Agreement requires that such information be protected. Declaration of 24 Christopher L. Callahan ("Callahan Decl.") at ¶10 (attached as Exhibit 2); Second 25

 ^{27 &}lt;sup>1</sup> "TR" means the Videotaped Deposition of Robert Edward Jones II, Vol. I (May 20, 2015) (attached as Exhibit 1). The video is available for review at: https://fclaw.app.box.com/s/zqm2ruxkutcwfr83rz7z0r2bcv2sndzn.

1 Amendment Amending and Restating Executive Employment Agreement, § 8.2 (Jan. 1, 2013) (attached as Exhibit 3).² The incomplete Jones deposition further demonstrates 2 3 that Defendants intend to delve into these confidential and proprietary matters. TR at 24:9, 30:24-31:1, 31:6, 31:15, 57:2-5, 65:3-5, 65:9, 65:18-20, 70:16-19, 81:24. Further, 4 5 Defendants and their counsel do not deny that any and all information provided in this 6 case has been, and will continue to be, distributed to other Club members and the public. 7 Various pleadings and other case documents, including the Response at 2:15-25. 8 transcript of Jones' s deposition, have been published on a website maintained by a former 9 Club Member, Gary Moselle. See http://desertmountaingolfscam.com/page8.html.

Arizona courts have recognized that seeking a protective order under Rule 26(c) is the correct response when an opposing party tries to obtain confidential information. See, e.g., Cornet Stores v. Superior Court In & For Yavapai Cnty., 108 Ariz. 84, 88, 492 P.2d 13 1191, 1195 (1972). Indeed, Rule 26(c)(1) itself recognizes that a court "may make any order which justice requires . . . including . . . that a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information not be disclosed or be disclosed only in a designated way...."

17 Defendants' other arguments concerning the Club's form objections, Jones's 18 request for complete paper copies of certain documents about which he was being 19 questioned, and the signature line of the Club's pleadings are without merit. Callahan's 20 objections at the Jones deposition were appropriate, particularly given the questions 21 asked by Defendants' counsel. See Kasko v. Aetna Life Ins. Co., 33 F. Supp. 3d 782, 790 22 Moreover, Jones is entitled to review complete hard copies of (E.D. Ky. 2014). 23 documents used during his deposition, particularly given his poor eyesight. See Ariz. R. 24 Civ. P. 30(b), (f). Defendants' argument about Club counsel's placement of the name of 25 his firm above, rather than below his signature line elevates form over substance. The Pavelic case, cited by Defendants (Response at 5), does not require a different format, 26

1 much less impose sanctions on non-signatories, as Defendants have sought here. In fact, 2 to the contrary, Pavelic holds that such sanction cannot be imposed.

3 Finally, Plaintiff's request to disqualify Fennemore Craig as counsel for the Club 4 is frivolous, lacking any evidentiary support, and contrary to the declarations of Callahan, 5 LaVoy, and Yelin. Callahan Decl. at ¶¶ 4-7; Motion to Quash Subpoena (June 10, 2015), Ex. 2, ¶ 4; Defendants' Motion to Strike and Response, Etc. (June 4, 2015), Ex. A. The 6 7 evidence shows that Fennemore Craig had no knowledge concerning any meeting or 8 communications between LaVoy and Yelin, until Defendants filed their Response.

9 II.

Good Cause Supports The Issuance Of A Protective Order.

Defendants' purpose in opposing a protective order is abundantly clear and wholly 10 11 irrelevant to their defense in this matter. Defendants' counsel admittedly seeks the 12 information at issue for the benefit of non-parties whom he has solicited or seeks as 13 clients. Response at 2:15-25. The Club and Jones have repeatedly stated that Defendants 14 are entitled to information regarding Club finances, its policies and procedures, and its 15 membership as related to the Club's claims against Defendants. Non-Party Robert Jones, II's Motion for Protective Order (May 26, 2015) ("Motion") at 7:2-5; Joinder at 16 17 What's more, Jones agreed to be deposed less than two months after 2:25-3:5. 18 Defendants filed their answer, and the Club has been willing to provide various 19 documents and other information concerning Club operations. See, e.g., Initial Disclosure Statement at 9-10 § IX (attached as Exhibit 4). The information is, however, 20 21 confidential and proprietary, and opposing counsel's desire to use the information in his 22 solicitation of potential clients further demonstrates good cause for a protective order. 23 Notably, Defendants assert no other substantive argument why such confidential and proprietary information should not be protected. 24

25 Defendants argue that the Club has not followed the procedure dictated by Rule 26 26(c)(2). Response at 2:9-11. To the contrary, under Rule 26(c)(2)(a) provides that 27 before entering an protective order barring the disclosure of information obtained in 28 discovery to a non-party, a court shall direct the parties to show why a confidentiality order should be granted or denied. "The court shall then make findings of fact concerning . . . relevant factors, including . . . (i) any party's need to maintain the confidentiality of such information . . . [and] (ii) any nonparty's . . . need to obtain access to such information." Rule 26(c)(2)(a) (emphasis added). The Club has complied with the Rule, and has shown that Jones is bound under contracts with the Developer and the Club and why the information sought by Defendants is confidential and proprietary

The Club and Jones Have Demonstrated Their Need for Confidentiality.

8 The Club and Jones have demonstrated their need to maintain confidentiality for 9 the information at issue. First, Jones is subject to the confidentiality provisions of both 10 the Settlement Agreement with the Developer and his Employment Agreement with the 11 Club, which cover information concerning the Club's finances, its operations, and its 12 membership. For example, under the Settlement Agreement, Jones is still bound by his 13 original Employment Agreement with the Developer (Motion, Ex. 1, § 13), and is 14 therefore precluded from sharing information "regarding all aspects of [the Developer's] business . . . and information concerning the Work " Motion, Ex. 2, § 8. "Work" is 15 16 defined as "training and oversight of all personnel providing Club-related goods and 17 services, implementation of Club policies and procedures, development and 18 implementation of Club budgets, and maintenance of positive member relations...." Mot. 19 Ex. 2 at § 4. Jones has similar obligations under his current Employment Agreement. 20 Exhibit 3, § 8.2. Given these obligations, Defendants should have, at least, worked with 21 opposing counsel to obtain a court order allowing Jones to disclose any protected 22 information, so that Jones would not violate the contracts, thereby exposing himself to 23 potential liability.

The Club is a non-profit entity, wholly owned and run by its Members. Complaint, ¶¶ 1, 4; Answer, ¶¶ 1, 4. The Club's revenue and ability to function is derived from its Members, and it operates in a highly competitive industry in which information concerning its Membership, benefits, personnel, and Members is vital to its operations, and its ability to maintain viability by attracting new Members. Complaint,

| 5 | Sikorsky Aircraft Corp. v. United States, 112 Fed. Cl. 313, 317 (2013). The Club treats |
| 6 | such information as confidential and proprietary, as evidenced by Jones's Settlement and |
| 7 | Employment Agreements, and by the fact that the Club also requires its members to |
| 8 | maintain this confidentiality in its bylaws and rules and regulations. See, e.g., Club's |

| 14 | Here, Defendants' counsel sought to explore proprietary and confidential |
| 15 | information early in Jones's deposition. For example, Defendants' counsel asked Jones |
| 16 | about: |
| 17 | • Circumstances surrounding the departure of a former Club Co- President (TR at 24:9); |
| 18 | • Dealings with other Club Members (id. at 30:24-31:1, 31:6, 31:15); |
| 19 20 | • Information concerning past and present pricing and sales of Club |

| 22 | • Details concerning other Club fees and benefits (id. at 81:24). |
| 23 | The Club's and Jones's respective counsel repeatedly objected to questioning |
| 24 | concerning the Club's personnel matters, pricing structure, membership fees, and |
| 25 | questions regarding other members. See TR at 24:11-27:9; 31:16-25; 57:7-10; 65:10- | clear that they would provide the information if Defendants' counsel agreed to use the information solely in this litigation, and not disclose the information publicly. When Defendants' counsel refused, and it became clear that Defendants' counsel would continue to pursue the information at issue, Jones's counsel suspended the deposition to pursue a protective order.

B. Public Dissemination of the Information Not Necessary or Reasonable in this Case.

Defendants argue that the protection of confidential and proprietary information is 7 not the norm, and only allowed upon a showing of good cause because a lawsuit is a 8 public proceeding. Response at 2:13-14. To the contrary, although "[t]here is no doubt 9 that there exists a common law right of access to civil trials . . . no such blanket rule 10 11 exists for pretrial depositions." Lewis R. Pyle Mem'l Hosp. v. Superior Court of Arizona In & For Gila Cnty., 149 Ariz. 193, 197, 717 P.2d 872, 876 (1986). Further, Arizona 12 13 "[t]rial judges should look to federal case law to determine what factors, including [those] listed in [Rule 26(c)(2)], should be weighed in deciding whether to grant or modify a 14 confidentiality order where parties contest the need for such an order." Rule 26(c), 2002 15 16 amend. cmt.

"[A] court [may] require that 'a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information not be revealed or be revealed only a specified way." Kasko, 33 F. Supp. 3d at 790 (quoting Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(c)). "If this type of information is found relevant, then appropriate measures should be taken concerning its disclosure by a protective order." Id. (citation omitted). "Courts possess substantial discretion in granting protective orders." Id. (citation omitted).

In Kasko, the court issued a protective order to avoid dissemination of information concerning the moving business's finances and operations as confidential. Id. "[T]he production of such information could be harmful to [the business] in that it could be potentially reviewed by competitors and duplicated." Id. In granting the order, the court further reasoned that the non-movant had not demonstrated that it would be harmed by a protective order allowing it access to the information sought, while also protecting the FENNEMORE CRAIG PROFESSIONAL CORPORATION PHOENIX movant from its dissemination to third parties. Id.

Like the non-movant in Kasko, Defendants have shown no need by non-parties to 2 obtain access to information concerning the Club's business information, let alone that 3 the public need for such information outweighs the Club's proprietary interests. 4 Moreover, Defendants have no standing to vindicate the public interest here. See State v. 5 Garaygordobil, 89 Ariz. 161, 164, 359 P.2d 753, 755 (1961). To date, the Club has filed 6 three suits against members who have breached their contractual obligations with the 7 Club-Defendants are the target of one of these actions. Defendants' counsel may not 8 9 use this case as a means to troll for potential clients on the theory that they may "want to know what is happening in this case." Response at 2:20. An attorney's self-interest in 10 soliciting business does not outweigh the Club's proprietary interest in information 11 concerning its finances, operations and Membership. 12

III. Jones Was Entitled To Complete, Paper Deposition Exhibits.

Defendants' counsel takes issue with Jones's request for complete hard copies of 14 documents used during his deposition. Response at 3-4. The rules of civil procedure 15 indicate otherwise. See Ariz. R. Civ. P. 30(b), (f). For example, Rule 30(f) provides that 16 "[d]ocuments and things produced for inspection during the examination of [a deposition] 17 witness must, upon the request of a party, be marked for identification and annexed to the 18 deposition and may be inspected and copied by any party...." The rule assures that each 19 party or witness may inspect and copy documents used during a deposition. See Rule 20 30(f), 1. cmt. (1970). Similarly, Rule 30(b)(5) is intended to terminate any doubt as to 21 whether a party must produce documents at depositions and permit their copying. See 22 23 Rule 30(b)(5), cmt. (1970).

Nothing in the Rules permits a deposing party to restrict a witness to a particular format when reviewing documents produced during questioning, yet Defendants' counsel refused to provide hard copies when requested to do so. TR at 63. The applicable standard is one of reasonableness. Here, Jones testified that he had vision problems, and was having trouble reading the computer screen provided by Defendants' counsel. TR at

FENNEMORE CRAIG PROFESSIONAL CORPORATION PHOENIX 48-49, 60, 63. Defendants question the veracity of Jones' s vision problems, by claiming that Jones was not wearing glasses or squinting or leaning forward. Response at 3. The videotaped deposition demonstrates otherwise as shown on Exhibit 7.

Moreover, there were only four documents referenced during the deposition, none 4 of which were lengthy: the Desert Mountain Club Bylaws dated July 1, 2013, TR at 41:4-5 6, 49:5-7, 50:20-22 (full document is 36 pages in length); a Conversion Agreement, TR at 6 60:5-8 (full document is 3 pages); a Revised Membership Marketing Program Frequently 7 Asked Questions, TR at 62:5-7 (2 pages); and a Letter to John W. Dillon, dated November 8 11, 2004, TR at 69:3-10 (2 pages).³ In total, the documents comprised approximately 43 9 pages. Jones asked to see the documents to provide accurate and complete answers to the 10 questions of Defendants' counsel. TR at 42:10-12, 49:8-11, 60:16-19; 62:8. By contrast, 11 Defendants' counsel asked questions about isolated sentences or portions of the 12 documents. Although Defendants' counsel may certainly ask these questions, the Club 13 and the deponent are entitled to object on the basis of form or foundation because the 14 question is misleading or the witness cannot answer without reviewing other portions of 15 the document at issue, as occurred here. TR at 42, 49, 60, 62. 16

Discovery is not a game of gotcha to trap a deponent; its purpose is "to avoid the element of surprise and prevent the trial of a lawsuit from being a 'guessing game.'" Watts v. Sup. Ct. in and for Maricopa Cnty., 87 Ariz. 1, 5, 347 P.2d 565, 567 (1959). Under these circumstances, Jones' s request, as well as the objections offered by Jones' counsel and the Club's counsel, were reasonable. A protective order for Jones should be granted and the Court should order Defendants' counsel to provide complete hard copies of the deposition exhibits at issue, upon resumption of the deposition.

IV. Defendants' Request To Disqualify Fennemore Craig Is Frivolous.

Defendants' argument that the Club's counsel should be disqualified is groundless and frivolous. Defendants make conclusory accusations that Fennemore Craig and ³ The deposition transcript indicates that Defendants' counsel did not mark any of the documents and does not index them. TR at 2:7-9.

Callahan have engaged in unethical conduct without any evidentiary support. Response at 1 2 4:18-24 (quoting Ex Parte E.J.M., 829 So.2d 105, 110 (Ala. 2001)). Unlike the Attorney General in Ex Parte E.J.M., the Callahan declaration makes 3 4 clear that neither Callahan nor anyone at Fennemore Craig: Had any knowledge that Mr. Yelin had consulted with Mr. LaVoy 5 about possible representation concerning the Club's demand letter or other 6 matters until now (Exhibit 2, \P 4); Has ever spoken to Mr. LaVoy about any communications, either 7 orally or in writing, between LaVoy and Yelin (id., \P 5); and 8 Has never seen the documents that Yelin provided to LaVoy (id., ¶7). 9 10 Callahan's declaration is consistent with the declarations of LaVoy and even Yelin, who makes clear that his communications were only with LaVoy. The Court should deny 11 Defendants' request to disqualify Fennemore Craig. 12 The Court Should Deny Defendants' Fee Request. 13 V. Defendants conclude by demanding attorneys' fees for the "unreasonable, 14 groundless, abusive, and obstructionist conduct" by the attorneys for Jones and the Club. 15 Response at 5:2-4. Defendants identify the conduct at issue as the following: (1) the 16 name of "Fennemore Craig" appears above, and not below the signature line on Plaintiff's 17 pleadings (id. at 5:8-6:2); and (2) counsel acted unreasonably in requesting a protective 18 19 order and acquiescing to the suspension of Jones's deposition (id. at 6:3-7). 20 With regard to the signature line issue, Defendants misrepresent Pavelic & LeFlore v. Marvell Entertainment Group, 493 U.S. 120 (1989). In Pavelic, the United States 21 Supreme Court reversed a decision to impose Rule 11 sanctions against a law firm in the 22 manner Defendants suggest. Id. at 127. Although the Court acknowledged the preferred 23 24 practice of following an attorney's signature with the name of his or her firm beneath, it refused to sanction other forms of signature (as used here) under Rule 11, concluding that 25 such a result would effect a "strained" interpretation of the rule and not further its 26 27 purpose. Id. at 126-27. The Court made clear that the signing attorney has a personal, non-delegable responsibility, and the placement of a firm name does not affect that 28

| last week. We did not receive the courtesy of a response from your office to either of those letters. When we came in this morning, we asked whether you were willing to agree and you said, quote, Daryl Williams does never agree to confidentiality agreements because I've been wrapped around the axle before. It would have been nice to know that in advance so we could see if we could have gotten ahold of Judge Bergin and resolved this today. But we are standing on the confidentiality objection. MR. WILLIAMS: Well, I can imagine there's one thing that I'm going to ask today that would fall within the ambit of any confidentiality agreements here. I certainly would respect confidentiality. And if you want to make an objection during the course of this that you think one question or another of mine falls within the limits of a confidentiality agreement, that seems to be an appropriate way for me to proceed. But to simply agree that carte blanche, in general, these very general letters that were sent to you sent to me by you and Mr. LaVoy, that is very imprudent of me as a lawyer. And so I do not do general carte blanche confidentiality agreements. I'm willing to | website. Anybody's website. But please explain to me, Mr. Callahan, what kind of problems this could possibly cause for the club? MR. CALLAHAN: If you go into any club confidentiality issues, which includes anything regarding club operations, that creates a problem. Because there is a confidentiality agreement between the club and Mr. Jones. There is a confidentiality agreement between Desert Mountain Properties Limited Partnership, the developer, the predecessor, and Mr. Jones, that is similar in scope. Obviously, we are willing to waive it for purposes of this litigation so long as the transcript is kept to this litigation. You're out soliciting a class action or a mass action among the Desert Mountain members against the club, that is well-known. I assume that you will use this for it. That's the only purpose I can think of for accelerating this deposition the way you have. And that is an improper use of a deposition, that is an improper use of a transcript, and we will resist that. MR. WILLIAMS: Well, I'm trying to do a |
| 24 proceed and give you an opportunity, when you get the 25 transcript, to say, "This is confidential for these | 24 I'm entitled to that. I think you're entitled to say this 25 position this part here, these questions here, they |

| reasons," showing me the particular confidentiality agreements clauses and explaining why it's confidential. That seems to me to be the more efficient way to proceed. Then we have something to fight about instead of just a bag of smoke. MR. LAVOY: Daryl MR. CALLAHAN: I appreciate your views, Mr. Williams. But the problem is you and/or your clients have elected to try this lawsuit through a website run by Mr. Gary Moselle. While you didn't send me a complete copy of the original notice for Mr. Jones' deposition, I was able to get one through the Gary Moselle website, your strategy letter to your clients, the Clarks, as to how you intend to defend this lawsuit. My assumption, since the videotape deposition notice was put up there, if this deposition proceeds without a confidentiality notice, we will see a link to the video being prepared today as soon as it is prepared on that website. That causes problems for the club. That is why we sent the letter we did. MR. WILLIAMS: What kind of problems does that cause for the club if that happens? And believe you | relate to something that is confidential. And then we can have something to discuss. MR. CALLAHAN: If it relates to club operations, it is confidential under the agreement and cannot be publicly disseminated. MR. WILLIAMS: Club operations as in hours of operations, their dealings with my client, Mr. Clark, his notice of resignation and Mr. Jones' reaction to that, those are club operations and confidential? MR. CALLAHAN: There are questions you can no doubt ask. But we're not going to let him ask anything that goes into club operations. Mr. LaVoy and I can confer on that. If you want to proceed that way, we can do that. MR. WILLIAMS: Well, let's proceed. Then if we MR. WILLIAMS: Yeah, let's proceed. MR. WILLIAMS: Yeah, let's proceed. MR. WILLIAMS: Mr. Williams, please, MR. LAVOY: No, no, Daryl. MR. LAVOY: Okay. Okay. Thank you, Mr. LAVOY: Okay. Okay. Thank you, Mr. Williams. So the issue is not just you and your clients publishing this deposition, along with the other |

| case materials that are being disseminated. The issue is that is that Mr. Jones has contractural confidential confidentiality obligations with third parties that are fairly broad and continuing with the deposition could expose him to civil liability under those agreements. And we attempted to resolve this issue with you in advance to avoid what, frankly, is turning into a circus, and you didn't respond. You just ignored the issue, and hence we find ourselves. So, you know, if you're going to inquire into anything having to do with the policies and practices of this golf club, it's just going to be a non-starter under these confidentiality agreements. Now, it may very well be that the court narrows the scope of those obligations or releases Mr. Jones to some extent from them. And at that point, Mr. Jones will be happy to appear and answer those questions. But he should not have to be exposed to potential civil liability at this moment, and that should be resolved by the judge in our view. So if you're willing to to go ahead and assure us at the outset that you're not going to inquire into these areas that we described in our written communications, then, yes, let's let's proceed. But if you just want to take this question by question with an | then tell me, "Well, that's a policy or procedure. Dou't answer that question." What's wrong with that? MR. LAVOY: So let's take a short break and and let the attorneys confer regarding how to proceed. Let's go off the record for a moment, please. WILLIAMS: Q. They're getting something that's worth a whole lot more than a dollar, aren't they? A. I'm not who who is getting more? Q. The guy who buys Mr. Clark's membership for a buck. A. So how do I know the buyer isn't subsidizing the price with Mr. Clark? I don't know that. Mr. Clark sets his price under the membership resale program. He decides what the number is. The club has a transfer fee, like all private clubs has. If he sets the price lower, in order to get out of the club quicker, that's his choice. It's a market based program. Q. So what is the market for an equity membership MR. CALLAHAN: Object to the form. THE WITNESS: We believe the price is 65,000 in the marketplace today. |

At the time the Clarks decided they didn't want 9 to be a member of this club, the club's deal was is they 10 couldn't sell their membership, correct? 11 A. No. They could sell their membership. It's a 12 market based pricing. They can set the price. The club 13 has set the price at 65,000. If the member wants to set 14 the price lower than 65,000, they can do that. 15 Mr. Clark obviously does not want to go 16 through that process as required by his conversion 17 agreement, by his membership agreement, and by the club 18 bylaws. 19 Q. So if Mr. Clark were to agree to proceed with 10 this procedure, and he sold the club membership for 11 $10,000, would he have to pay money to get out? 12 A. Yes. Has the value of the membership gone down? A. No, sir, not in the club's opinion. But the members have control of getting out of the club. They have certainty to set their price at a market base, which many clubs have this program today, including two in town off the top of my head. They can choose to replace themselves and sell it whatever the price they want to sell it for, as long as it comes through the club. Q. Why do you feel compelled in your answers to always refer to other clubs when I'm only talking about Desert Mountain? A. It's my opinion, my personal belief. I'm just expressing my belief. | 17 | MR. LAVOY: Okay, We're adjourning the | 17 | MR. WILLIAMS: It does. |
| 18 | deposition. We're going to take this issue up with the | 18 | MR. CALLAHAN: Shall we go off shall |
| 19 | judge. This is a waste of time. | 19 | MR. LAVOY: There's something we can agree |
| 20 | MR. WILLIAMS: Are you adjourning this | 20 | on, Mr. Williams. I knew it was possible. |
| 21 | deposition, Mr. Callahan? | 21 | MR. WILLIAMS: Should we go off the record, |
| 22 | MR. CALLAHAN: Mr. LaVoy just did. | 22 | Mr. Callahan? |
| 23 | MR. LAVOY: I'm adjourning for | 23 | MR. CALLAHAN: Probably. |
| 24 | MR. CALLAHAN: He represents Mr. Jones | 24 | MR. WILLIAMS: Okay. |
| 25 | personally. | 25 | THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are off the record. |

 Tom Clark, Eric Graham and Barry Fabian that sets forth "Points Favoring the Defendants – Desert Mountain Club, Inc. v. Thomas Clark and Barbara Clark" (CL00001-CL00011). I do not

8. I have seen a letter that Daryl Williams sent to the Clarks, dated February 10, 2015, but I viewed this information on a website that is available to the public. That website, which I understand is maintained by a former Club member, Gary Moselle, is www.desertmountaingolfscam.com (the "Moselle Website").

9. I am aware that Mr. Williams is actively soliciting members of the Club to join in some sort of mass or class legal action against the Club.

10. Mr. Jones is the Club's Chief Operating Officer. Mr. Jones has an Executive Employment Agreement with the Club, which contains a Non-Disclosure Clause, prohibiting Mr. Jones from disclosing any confidential information of the Club.

3 11. On May 15, 2015, five days before the date scheduled for Mr. Jones' deposition, I 4 sent an e-mail to Mr. Williams advising him of the Non-Disclosure clause. A true and correct 5 copy of this e-mail is attached as Exhibit A. In that e-mail, I advised Mr. Williams that the Club 6 would waive the confidentiality clause for purposes of this action "on the condition that the 7 transcript is designated as confidential and is not disseminated outside of the parties, the attorneys and their consultants in this matter." I was concerned that the transcript might be 8 9 disseminated outside of the context of this litigation because either Mr. Williams or Defendants 10 have published a number of pleadings and other documents from this litigation on the Moselle 11 Website. In the e-mail, I advised Mr. Williams that his agreement to treat the transcript as 12 confidential would be without prejudice to his ability to challenge the confidentiality designation 13 at a later date. I asked Mr. Williams to let me know if he was amenable to this proposal because, 14 if he was not, then the issue could be brought to the Court's attention. Mr. Williams did not 15 respond to my email prior to the deposition.

12. At the beginning of the deposition, I again proposed that the deposition testimony 17 be kept confidential until the Court could rule on the issue of confidentiality. Mr. Williams would not agree to this proposal. During the deposition, Mr. LaVoy and I proposed deferring the 18 19 deposition so that the confidentiality issues could be resolved by the Court, but Mr. Williams 20 indicated that he would prefer to proceed to see whether any of his proposed questions raised confidentiality concerns. 21

22 13. I believe that Mr. Williams will not agree to confidentiality because of his selfinterest in using information from this lawsuit to solicit other Club members to participate in his 23 proposed mass/class action. 24

A copy of Mr. Jones's deposition already has been posted on the Moselle 25 14. Website. 26

Jones [FC-Email.FID6446486]

Mr. Williams:

At the request of the President of Desert Mountain Club, Inc., I am forwarding to you an email that I received from him this morning. As you can tell from the email, Bob Jones has a Non-Disclosure Clause in his Employment Agreement with the Club. The Club is willing to waive this clause for purposes of Mr. Jones' deposition in the instant litigation on the condition that the transcript is designated as confidential and is not disseminated outside of the parties, the attorneys and their consultants in this matter.

We would propose that, so as not to disrupt the previously agreed-to deposition schedule, we agree that: (1) the transcript shall be designated as confidential; (2) neither the transcript nor the video recording of the deposition may be provided to anyone other than your clients, your firm, our firm and any consultants retained by either your firm or ours in connection with this matter; (3) the attorneys, their firms and their consultants would be advised that the transcript is confidential and that it may not be further disseminated; and (4) this agreement shall be made without prejudice to your clients' ability to challenge the confidentiality designation at a later date should you feel the need to do so.

Please let me know at your earliest convenience whether you are amenable to this proposal. If you are, please confirm. If not, please let me know as well so that we can make an attempt to bring this matter to the Court's attention. I look forward to hearing from you.

Subject: Executive Employment Agreement between the Desert Mountain Club and Mr. Jones

Dear Chris:

I understand that the attorney for Tom and Barbara Clark intends to take the deposition of Bob Jones on May 20, 2015 in connection with the Club's lawsuit to collect from the Clarks the amounts that they owe to the Club.

There is an Executive Employment Agreement between the Club and Mr. Jones that contains a Non-Disclosure Clause. That clause provides, in part, as follows:

In performing work for the Club, Executive will be exposed to confidential information of the Club and others. Executive will not at any time, during or after Executive's employment with the Club, without the express written consent of an officer of the Club, publish, disclose, or divulge to any Person . . . any confidential information of the Club.

Executive Employment Agreement, § 8.

The Club regards its executive compensation, internal policies and procedures, disciplinary practices and personnel matters as confidential and subject to Mr. Jones' non-disclosure obligations under the Employment Agreement.

The Club consents to Mr. Jones providing testimony regarding his activities as the General Manager/Chief Operating Officer of Desert Mountain Club, Inc. pertinent to the Club's dealings with Mr. and Mrs. Clark in the deposition so long as the deposition transcript is marked confidential, is used only in connection with the pending lawsuit between the Club and the Clarks and is not disseminated to any individuals who are not parties to the suit or their attorneys.

Please provide a copy of this communication to the Clarks' attorney. Since this consent will allow Mr. Jones to testify fully regarding all matters at issue since the inception of Desert Mountain Club, Inc. and will allow the Clarks' full and complete use of his testimony in the pending action, we trust that he will have no objection to this position. Please let us know his position as soon as he responds to this notification.

Joseph Maslick President Desert Mountain Club, Inc.

SECOND AMENDMENT AMENDING AND RESTATING EXECUTIVE EMPLOYMENT AGREEMENT

This Second Amendment (the "Agreement") is made and entered into on FERMAL, 2, 2015, to be effective as of January 1, 2015 ("Effective Date"), by and between Desert Mountain Club, Inc., an Arizona corporation, and its subsidiaries (the "Club"), and Robert E. Jones II (the "Executive").

WITNESSETH:

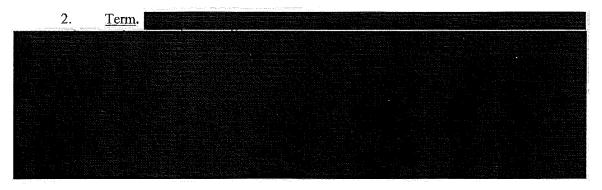

WHEREAS, on January 1, 2012, the Club and Executive entered into an executive employment agreement (the "2012 Agreement");

WHEREAS, on January 23, 2015, the Club and Executive entered into a First Amendment to the 2012 Agreement (the "First Amendment") to be effective as of January 1, 2015 (the "Amendment Effective Date");

WHEREAS, Club and Executive desire that this Agreement amend and restate the 2012 Agreement to include the terms of the First Amendment.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the premises and the mutual covenants and agreements set forth herein, the Club and Executive, intending to be legally bound, hereby agree as follows:

1. Employment. The Club agrees to employ Executive as the Chief Operating Officer/General Manager of the Club, and Executive accepts such employment and agrees to perform full-time employment services for the Club, subject always to the direction of the Club's Board of Directors (the "Board"), for the period and upon the other terms and conditions set forth in this Agreement.

I.

FACTUAL BASIS OF CLAIMS.

The Club is a private equity golf, social, and fitness club located in the Desert Mountain community, in Scottsdale, Arizona. The Club was initially developed, operated and maintained by Desert Mountain Development Company, Inc., and subsequently by Desert Mountain Properties Limited Partnership (the "Developer") but, at all times since December 31, 2010, the Club has been owned by its Members.

12 On or about April 27, 1988, Defendants Thomas Clark and Barbara Clark entered into a 13 Dual Membership Agreement with Desert Mountain Development Company. On or about 14 November 11, 1996, Defendants entered into a "Deferred Equity Golf Membership Agreement 15 (Conversion from Non-Equity)" (the "Membership Agreement") with the Developer. Through 16 the Membership Agreement, Defendants converted their existing non-equity membership in the 17 Club to a Deferred Equity Golf Membership in the Club pursuant to the Club's conversion 18 program and subject to the terms and conditions of the Membership Agreement. Under the 19 Membership Agreement, the Clarks agreed to pay all dues, assessments, and charges owed to the 20 Club. The Membership Agreement conspicuously bound Defendants to the terms and conditions 21 of the Club Bylaws, the Membership Plan (the "Plan"), and the Rules and Regulations of the 22 Club, as they may be amended from time to time. Membership Agreement at 1 § 1. Defendants 23 represented and warranted that they had received and reviewed, and that they understood the 24 Club Bylaws and the Plan. Id. at 7 § 13.

Although the 1994 Club Bylaws allowed a Member to "resign" his Membership, this "resignation" did not prevent the "resigning" Member from continuing to use the Club Facilities

FENNEMORE CRAIG, P.C. Phoenix and did not abrogate the Member's obligation to pay all dues, charges and other assessments owing to the Club as they fell due. These obligations on the part of the "resigning" Member terminated only when the "resigned" Membership had been reissued by the Club. 1994 Membership Plan at p. 7.

In 2004, the Bylaws were amended to incorporate expressly this requirement contained in the 1994 Membership Plan. Specifically, the 2004 Bylaws prohibited the sale of Memberships and required any Member seeking to exit the Club to surrender the Membership to the Club for reissuance. Bylaws (2004), § 6.1.3. With regard to the continuing obligation to pay dues, the Bylaws provided that:

Until such time as a surrendered Deferred Equity Membership is reissued, the Member designated in relation to such membership will continue to have the use privileges associated with such membership, subject to these Bylaws and the Rules and Regulations, and shall remain responsible (together with the owner of such membership, if the membership is owned by an entity) for all dues, fees, other charges and assessments payable with respect to such membership.

Id., § 6.1.4. These same restrictions were continued in the Bylaws, as amended on March 31, 2006 (the "2006 Bylaws"). Bylaws (2006), §§ 6.13, 6.1.4.

Restrictions on the ability of private golf club members to terminate their financial 17 obligations to the Club through resignation are common throughout the United States. The 18 rationale for this restriction is simple and straight forward—private golf clubs, such as the Club, 19 are dependent upon dues revenue derived from their members to conduct their day-to-day 20 operations, such as the maintenance of the golf courses and other facilities and amenities. Club 21 budgets (and the amount of dues charged to members) are based upon the number of members at 22 the club. Any reduction in revenues attributable to a decline in dues paying memberships results 23 in a proportional increase in the dues, assessments, fees, and other charges imposed upon the 24 members and threatens the ongoing viability of a club. Accordingly, restrictions upon a 25 member's ability simply to resign the Membership, the requirement that Memberships must be 26 transferred through the Club, and the obligation of the surrendering Member to continue paying 1 2 dues, assessments, fees, and other charges attendant to Membership during the period that 3 reissuance of the Membership is pending are critically important to the ongoing economic 4 viability of the Club.

5 On or about December 21, 2010, as part of the Club's transition from Developer control 6 to Member control, Defendants signed a Membership Conversion Agreement (the "Conversion 7 Agreement"). Under the Conversion Agreement, the Club agreed to convert Members' Deferred 8 Equity Golf Memberships to Equity Golf Memberships in the Club. Conversion Agreement at 1. 9 In exchange, Members reaffirmed their agreement to abide by the terms of the Club Bylaws and 10 Rules and Regulations of the Club, as amended from time to time, and to pay all dues, fees, 11 charges, and assessments as provided by the Club Bylaws. Id. Specifically, the Conversion 12 Agreement provides:

> Member hereby acknowledges that Member has received, has read, and understands the Club Bylaws and this Membership Conversion Agreement, which supersede and replace in their entirety the Prior Club Bylaws, membership agreements and applications for the Club, and other related agreements, however titled and as amended or revised, and all right thereunder, unless otherwise stated herein. Member hereby agrees that Member's use of the Club and privileges under the Equity Golf Membership are subject to the terms, conditions and restrictions set forth herein and in the Club Bylaws and rules and regulations established by the Club, as amended from time to time and Member agrees to conform to and abide by the terms set forth therein, including the timely payment of all dues, fees, charges and assessments as provided in the Club Bylaws.

Id. In addition to this statement, Defendants further acknowledged that:

Member hereby agrees that Member's use of the Club and privileges under the Equity Golf Membership are subject to the terms, conditions and restrictions set forth herein and in the Club Bylaws and rules and regulations established by the Club, as amended from time to time, and Member agrees to conform to and abide by the terms set forth therein

Subsequent to the transition to Member control, the Club Bylaws were amended again in 2 2012, 2013, and 2014. Like their predecessors, these amendments did not permit Members to 3 simply resign their Memberships and walk away from their obligations to the Club. From the 4 outset, members have only been permitted to transfer their Memberships through the Club and 5 have remained obligated to pay all Club dues, assessments and other charges until such time as 6 their Memberships have been reissued by the Club.

On or about June 26, 2013, Defendants elected to surrender their Membership for reissuance through the Club in accordance with the Bylaws. By signing the Request for Reissuance Form (the "Request"), Defendants explicitly agreed that they "will continue to have full usage and voting rights until the Membership is reissued by the Club and that [they] are obligated to continue to pay dues, fees, charges and assessments until reissuance" Request at 2.

Before their Membership could be reissued, however, on or about January 1, 2014, Defendants attempted to resign their Membership, effective January 1, 2014, through a letter tendered to the Club. In that letter, Defendants claimed that the letter "officially serve[d] as [their] resignation form the Desert Mountain Club, Inc. Effective 1/1/2014." January 1 Letter at p. 1. Despite repeated communications from the Club, Defendants have paid none of the dues or other charges against their Membership Account since sending this letter on January 1, 2014.

As of May 31, 2015, Defendants owe a total of $106,052.53 (including the $65,000 transfer fee) to the Club pursuant to the terms of the Membership Agreement, the Conversion Agreement, and the Bylaws. This amount will continue to increase on a monthly basis, reflecting additional dues and late charges, until such time as the Membership is either transferred or terminated.

Accordingly, Defendants remain Members of the Club. Under the terms of the Conversion Agreement and the Bylaws, Defendants are still obligated to pay all dues, fees, assessments, and other charges properly posted to their Club account.

LEGAL THEORIES UPON WHICH CLAIMS ARE BASED.

Declaratory Relief. The Club requests that the Court declare: that the provisions of the 2 Membership Agreement and the Bylaws regarding the manner in which Members of the Club 3 may terminate their Memberships are enforceable; that Defendants cannot unilaterally terminate 4 their obligation to pay dues, assessments and other charges properly imposed by the Club simply 5 by resigning their Membership; that Defendants' attempted unilateral resignation from the Club 6 was not effective to terminate Defendants' ongoing obligation to pay all dues, fees, assessments 7 and other charges imposed by the Club; and that until such time as their Membership has been 8 9 terminated in one of the methods specifically authorized in the Bylaws, Defendants remain Members of the Club, subject to the Bylaws, and the Rules and Regulations of the Club, as they 10 may be amended from time to time. 11

Breach of Contract. Defendants entered into a Membership Agreement with the Club. 12 The Membership Agreement validly incorporated the Club Bylaws as it conspicuously stated that 13 Defendants would be bound by the terms and conditions of the Club Bylaws. See Weatherguard 14 Roofing Co. v. D.R. Ward Constr., 214 Ariz. 344, ¶ 8, 152 P.3d 1227, 1229 (App. 2007) 15 (document may be incorporated by reference into contract when reference clear and unequivocal 16 and called to attention of other party, other party consents, terms of incorporated document 17 known or easily available to contracting parties, and context of reference makes clear writing part 18 of contract). The Membership Agreement and the Club Bylaws clearly and conspicuously 19 foreclose a Member from terminating his obligation to pay dues, fees, assessments, and charges 20 owed to the Club simply by resigning from the Club. Instead, a Member wishing to exit the Club 21 and end his payment obligations must tender his Membership to the Club for reissuance. Once the 22 Membership has been reissued, the duty to pay dues, fees, assessments, and other charges 23 terminates. "Where parties bind themselves by a lawful contract, in the absence of fraud a court 24 must give effect to the contract as it is written, and the terms or provisions of the contract, where 25 clear and unambiguous, are conclusive." Goodman v. Newzona Inv. Co., 101 Ariz. 470, 472, 421 26

These "Member Rules and Regulations" of the Desert Mountain Club, Inc. (the "Club") have been compiled and are provided on the Club's Members Only Website and herein for your convenience and ease of reference. These Rules and Regulations are mandatory in nature and binding upon all members. Failure to follow them may result in disciplinary action(s) taken by the Club pursuant to the Bylaws of The Desert Mountain Club, Inc. (the "Bylaws"). Please also refer to your copy of the Bylaws and any other additional guidelines, rules and regulations implemented by the Club from time to time (some of which may be physically posted or otherwise distributed at the specific Club facility to which they may pertain). These Rules and Regulations are not intended to supersede or contradict the Bylaws which take precedence over these Rules and Regulations in the event of a conflict. Although there is only one designated member under each membership agreement, the terms "member" or "members," as used in these Rules and Regulations, sometimes includes the designated members legal spouse or significant other, unmarried children under the age of twenty-five (25) living at home or who are full-time students or serving in the U.S. Armed Forces (immediate family members) as the context may require. These Rules and Regulations were created for the collective interests of the members and for our members' enjoyment of the facilities of the Club.

| 18 | Memorandum of Points and Authorities. | | |
| 19 | MEMORANDUM OF POINT | S AND AUTHORITIES | |
| 20 | 1. THE FACTS DID NOT PROVE LIABILITY | | |
| 21 | Plaintiff first argues that the evidence elicited at trial "proved" liability | | |
| 22 | against Jason Clemett and Daniel Blanchard (collectively, "Defendants") because they | | |
| 23 | both admitted to hitting Plaintiff. Plaintiff contends that although Plaintiff was not | | |
| 24 | "physically combative," the jury improperly found for Defendants. To begin, the | | |
| 25 | overwhelming evidence supported the position that Plaintiff instigated the incident and | | |
| 26 | was, in fact, "physically combative." Several witnesses testified that Plaintiff was | | |
| 27 | | | |
| 28 | | | |
| | 3945815.1 | | |

threatening, hostile, and aggressive leading up to the incident. Plaintiff directed his violent behavior toward Defendants and their guests (wife and friend).

Furthermore, Plaintiff did not bring an assault claim; the only claim against Defendants was for negligence. Based on Plaintiff's behavior, Defendants acted "reasonably" under the circumstances. Contrary to Plaintiff's assertion, the evidence in this case did not "prove" liability; rather, the evidence fully supported the verdict entered in favor of Defendants.

LEGAL STANDARD – THE TRIAL COURT SHOULD NOT VACATE THE VERDICT OR GRANT A NEW TRIAL

The power to grant a new trial is largely within the trial court's discretion, but this power is not unlimited. King v. Superior Court, 138 Ariz. 147, 151, 673 P.2d 787, 791 (1983). "[I]f it appears clearly from the record that there was no error in the matters presented in the motion for new trial, it is an abuse of discretion for the court to grant a new trial." Helena Chem. Co. v. Coury Bros. Ranches, 126 Ariz. 448, 450, 616 P.2d 908, 910 (App. 1980).

When ruling on a motion for new trial, a trial court must "pass on the weight of the evidence" to determine if "substantial justice has not been done between the parties." Smith v. Moroney, 79 Ariz. 35, 38, 282 P.2d 470, 472 (1955) (internal quotation marks omitted). In that role, the trial judge sits as a "thirteenth juror (the ninth juror in a civil case)," Hutcherson v. City of Phoenix, 192 Ariz. 51, 55 ¶ 23, 961 P.2d 449, 453 (1998) (internal quotation marks omitted). Furthermore, "[a] party cannot urge in a motion for new trial that evidence was erroneously admitted unless a proper objection, stating the specific ground of the objection, was made at the time the evidence was offered, unless the error is fundamental." Hawkins v. Allstate Ins. Co., 152 Ariz. 490, 496, 733 P.2d 1073, 1079 (1987).

1 3. THE COURT PROPERLY GAVE AN INSTRUCTION CONSISTENT WITH A.R.S. § 12-711 2 Under Arizona law: 3 In any civil action, the finder of fact may find the defendant not liable if the defendant proves that the claimant . . . was under the influence of an intoxicating liquor or a drug and as a 4 5 result of that influence the claimant or decedent was at least fifty per cent responsible for the accident or event that caused the claimant's ... harm. 6 7 A.R.S. § 12-711 (2009) (emphasis added). With this statute in mind, the Court provided 8 the following jury instruction: 9 If Jason Clemett or Daniel Blanchard proves that Plaintiff Mark Franklin was under the influence of an intoxicating 10 liquor, and as a result of that influence, Mark Franklin was at least fifty percent (50%) responsible for the incident or event that caused his injuries, you may find Defendant Jason Clemett and Defendant Daniel Blanchard not liable to Mark 11 12 Franklin. (Emphasis added.) Plaintiff claims that the Court committed error by giving a jury 13 instruction based on A.R.S. § 12-711 because: (1) it violates Article 18, § 5 of the Arizona 14 Constitution by placing constraints on the jury's discretion; (2) it violates Article 2, § 31 15 of the Arizona Constitution by placing an unconstitutional limit on damages; (3) it is 16 unconstitutionally vague; (4) it violates Article 18, § 6 of the Arizona Constitution 17 because it abrogates the right to constitutionally-protected recovery; (5) it violates 18 19 Arizona's comparative fault principles by ignoring the parties' relative degrees of fault; and (6) no competent evidence proved that Plaintiff was "under the influence." We 20 address each of those arguments in turn. 21 22 A. A.R.S. § 12-711 does not violate Article 18, § 5 of the Arizona Constitution. Article 18, § 5 of the Arizona Constitution requires "[t]he defense of 23 contributory negligence or of assumption of risk, in all cases whatsoever, be a question of 24 fact and shall, at all times, be left to the jury." Plaintiff argues that the Court's jury 25 instruction on intoxicating liquor violated this requirement by unconstitutionally removing 26 the jury's discretion. 27 28 39458151 3

1 It is well known that the issues of negligence and contributory negligence 2 are solely a question for the jury; the trial court may not establish negligence or 3 contributory negligence. See Tobel v. State of Arizona Dept. of Public Safety, 189 Ariz. 4 168, 172, 939 P.2d 801, 805 (App. 1997). However, a violation of Article 18, § 5 occurs 5 only when the trial court provides a mandatory instruction that requires the jury to find 6 for a defendant if it finds the plaintiff was negligent. See Deering v. Carter, 92 Ariz, 329. 7 331, 376 P.2d 857, 859 (1962) (remanding a case where the jury was instructed that its 8 verdict "must be for the Defendant" (emphasis added)). Conversely, it is not a violation 9 of Article XVIII, § 5 to provide an instruction to the jury that is permissive and leaves a 10 plaintiff's recovery to the discretion of the jury if it finds plaintiff was negligent. See Layton v. Rocha, 90 Ariz. 369, 369, 368 P.2d 444, 445 (1962) (holding that an instruction 11 was constitutional because it stated "plaintiff may not be entitled to recover and your 12 13 verdict may be for the defendant" (emphases added)).

14 Here, the plain language of A.R.S. § 12-711 is viewed as permissive 15 because it provides the jury may find for the defendant based on plaintiff's intoxication. 16 The statute does not remove the issue of contributory negligence from the jury. The Court's intoxicating liquor instruction in this case was also consistent with that permissive 17 18 language; it never removed the question of liability from the jury, nor required the jury to 19 take any particular action. Romero v. Southwest Ambulance, 211 Ariz. 200, 205, 119 P.3d 20 467, 472 ("Section 12-711 neither removes the question of liability from the jury nor 21 requires the jury to take a particular action.").

Therefore, Plaintiff's argument that A.R.S. § 12-711 is incorrect and the Court should deny Plaintiff's motion for a new trial on this ground.

26

27

28

B. A.R.S. § 12-711 does not violate Article 2, § 31 of the Arizona Constitution Article 2, § 31 of the Arizona Constitution provides that:

No law shall be enacted in this state limiting the amount of damages to be recovered for causing the death or injury of any person, except that a crime victim is not subject to a claim for damages by a person who is harmed while the person is attempting to engage in, engaging in or fleeing after having engaged in or attempted to engage in conduct that is classified as a felony offense.

Here, Plaintiff argues A.R.S. § 12-711 "encourages jurors to find the victim's actions have created an absolute defense for the defendant," and thus is "an unconstitutional limit on damages." Plaintiff's position is incorrect. As discussed above, A.R.S. § 12-711 does not curtail a jury's power to make a finding, and it certainly does not impose a limit on damages. See Romero, 211 Ariz. at 205, 119 P.3d at 472. Instead, it merely allows a jury to find for a defendant if it finds plaintiff was intoxicated and that, as a result of his intoxication, he was at least 50% responsible for the incident. In this case, the Court's instruction on intoxicating liquor was consistent with A.R.S. § 12-711 and therefore it did not create an unconstitutional limit on Plaintiff's damages.

C. A.R.S. § 12-711 is not unconstitutionally vague

Next, Plaintiff argues that A.R.S. § 12-711 is unconstitutionally vague because it fails to define "under the influence" or "explain what level of influence should trigger a defense verdict."

First, Plaintiff's argument fails because the statute is not unconstitutionally vague. A cursory review of the applicable case reveals that the phrase "under the influence" has been upheld multiple times based on the same argument Plaintiff offers. It is not surprising that Plaintiff ignored the abundance of case law because all of the case law on point undermines Plaintiff's argument:

The appellant's vagueness claim is directed to the words "under the influence". This language was interpreted over 50 years ago in Hasten v. State, 35 Ariz. 427, 280 P. 670 (1929) to mean "in the slightest degree". This meaning has been used in our courts ever since. Neither the statute nor this judicial definition is vague.

State v. Parker, 136 Ariz. 474, 666 P.2d 1083 (App. 1983); see also State v. Martin, 174
Ariz. 118, 121, 847 P.2d 619, 622 (App. 1992); Weston v. State, 49 Ariz. 183, 187–88, 65
P.2d 652, 654–55 (1937). Plaintiff's vagueness argument is contrary to well-settled
Arizona case law and should be dismissed outright.

1 Furthermore, "[a] statute is not unconstitutionally vague because one of its 2 terms is not explicitly defined." State v. Takacs, 169 Ariz. 392, 395, 819 P.2d 978, 981 3 (App. 1991). "Nor is a statute unconstitutionally vague simply because it is susceptible to 4 more than one interpretation." Id. "Whether a statute is unconstitutionally vague is 5 generally determined by examining its application to the facts of the particular case." In re Moises L., 199 Ariz. 432, 434, 18 P.3d 1231, 1233 (App. 2000). In addition, when the 6 7 Legislature fails to define a phrase contained in a statute, courts will simply consider the 8 phrase's definitions in respected dictionaries. DeVries v. State, 221 Ariz. 201, 207, ¶ 21, 9 211 P.3d 1185, 1191 (App. 2009); see also A.R.S. § 1-213 ("Words and phrases shall be 10 construed according to the common and approved use of the language."). Black's Law 11 Dictionary defines "under the influence" as "deprived of clearness of mind and selfcontrol because of drugs or alcohol." 12

13 In this case, the jury had an abundance of evidence to conclude that Plaintiff was "under the influence" of alcohol based on the ordinary meaning of that phrase. 14 15 Security guard, Nick Bosnak (who was trained to identify intoxicated fans), testified that Plaintiff was drunk, hostile, loud and obnoxious, and that when he drinks, he gets "crazy." 16 17 The responding officer, Officer Justin Meyers (also trained to identify intoxication), 18 testified that he detected a strong to moderate odor of an intoxicating beverage emanating 19 from Plaintiff that Plaintiff appeared to be under the influence of alcohol. Consistent with 20 that testimony, both Jason and Dawn Clemett testified that they saw Plaintiff was drinking 21 and that he appeared drunk. Both Matthew and Dior Tidwell testified that Plaintiff always 22 had a drink in his hand, and that he was drunk. Examining the phrase "under the 23 influence" in the context of this case, there is simply no support for Plaintiff's argument; 24 A.R.S. § 12-711 is not unconstitutionally vague.

D. A.R.S. § 12-711 does not violate Article 18, § 6 of the Arizona Constitution Plaintiff next argues A.R.S. § 12-711 violates Article 18, § 6 of the Arizona

27 Constitution because it "unconstitutionally instructs the jury to determine that a negligent plaintiff was the sole cause of injury and deny a recovery." This Section of the Arizona 1 2 Constitution states:

28

> The right of action to recover damages for injuries shall never be abrogated, and the amount recovered shall not be subject to any statutory limitation, except that a crime victim is not subject to a claim for damages by a person who is harmed while the person is attempting to engage in, engaging in or fleeing after having engaged in or attempted to engage in conduct that is classified as a felony offense.

7 In making this argument, Plaintiff fails to acknowledge that this issue has been analyzed 8 by the Arizona Court of Appeals in Romero, 211 Ariz. 200, 119 P.3d 467. The Romero 9 court explicitly held that A.R.S. § 12-711 does not violate Article 18, § 6 of the Arizona 10 Constitution. In that case, the Court of Appeals recognized that "the legislature may 11 permissibly regulate a cause of action without abrogating it, as along as reasonable 12 alternatives permit a claimant to bring an action." Id. at 205, 119 P.3d at 472. In that case, the court went on to explain that A.R.S. § 12-711 "neither removes the question of 13 14 liability from the jury nor requires a jury to take a particular action." As such, the statute 15 does not abrogate a cause of action.

E. A.R.S. § 12-711 does not violate comparative fault principles.

17 Plaintiff also claims that Section 12-711 violates Arizona's comparativefault principles under the Uniform Contribution Among Tortfeasors Act ("UCATA"), 18 19 A.R.S. § 12-2501, et. seq. But this argument also fails. UCATA refers only to the 20 defenses of contributory negligence and assumption of the risk. Section 12-711, on the 21 other hand, provides a separate and distinct defense related to fault arising out of the 22 consumption of alcohol. Contrary to Plaintiff's argument, these two statutes do not 23 conflict each other. Applying Section 12-711 does not trigger UCATA, or vice versa.

Section 12-2505 of UCATA also provides for certain instances in which 25 comparative negligence is not applicable -i.e. when the plaintiff intentionally, wilfully or 26 wantonly causes or contributes to the injury. Moreover, the Romero Court also briefly 27 addressed this argument and indicated that it would also fail if properly raised: "[the 28 plaintiff] also argues that § 12-711 is unconstitutional because it conflicts with Arizona's 3945815/1 7

1 Uniform Contribution Among Tortfeasors Act, A.R.S. §§ 12-2501 through 12-2509. 2 This argument, on its face, appears to lack merit given the permissive language of § 12-3 711." Romero, 211 Ariz. at 204, 119 P.3d at 471. To be sure, Section 12-711 and Section 12-2505 can coexist without contradicting each other. 4

F. Defendants produced sufficient evidence from which the jury could conclude Plaintiff was under the influence

Last, Plaintiff argues "no competent evidence proved Plaintiff was under the influence of intoxicating liquor when assaulted." As explained above, several witnesses testified that Plaintiff was either drinking, drunk, intoxicated, smelled of alcohol, or somehow under the influence of alcohol.

THERE WAS NO ERROR IN INSTRUCTING ON ASSUMPTION OF RISK

Plaintiff next argues the Court erred by instructing the jury on Plaintiff's 12 assumption of risk. In this case, the Court's instruction on assumption of risk was taken 13 directly from RAJI (Civil) 3d Fault 10. There was nothing improper about the instruction. 14 Furthermore, contrary to Plaintiff's contention, the evidence produce during trial fully supported an assumption of risk instruction. Hildebrand v. Minyard, 16 Ariz. App. 583, 16 585, 494 P.2d 1328, 1330 (App. 1972). Here, ample evidence shows Plaintiff assumed the risk of potential harm arising from a physical altercation. Among other things, Plaintiff verbally harassed the Clemetts and signaled for Jason Clemett to come over to him. The jury saw the video of the incident in which Plaintiff was gesturing to Mr. Clemett. Witnesses testified that Plaintiff was asking for a fight and telling Mr. Clemett that he was going to "f him up." Plaintiff knew that by engaging in such conduct, he was risking potential injury arising from a physical altercation. Thus, the Court did not err in providing the assumption of risk instruction.

5. THERE WAS NO ERROR IN ALLOWING DR. BORGARO'S EXPERT TESTIMONY

Next, Plaintiff argues the Court erred when it allowed Defendants' expert, 26 27 Dr. Borgaro, "to testify Plaintiff was malingering and making symptom reports that were 28 not credible." In making this argument, Plaintiff mischaracterizes Dr. Borgaro's expert 3945815.1 8 1 medical opinion as the equivalent of lay testimony that Plaintiff was not telling the truth. 2 Defendant cites to State v. Reimer, 189 Ariz. 239, 941 P.2d 912 (App. 1997) to support his 3 position; however, Reimer is inapplicable to this case. In Reimer, the trial court permitted 4 an investigating officer to testify as to his belief that a criminal defendant was lying 5 during an interview. In reversing the case, the court of appeals explained that "neither 6 expert nor lay witnesses assist the trier of fact to understand the evidence or to determine a 7 fact in issue when they merely opine on the truthfulness of a statement by another 8 witness." Id. at 241, 941 P.2d at 914 (emphasis added).

9 Plaintiff also cites to a non-binding Eight Circuit case and misstates the facts
10 of that case to suggest that "malingering" is an improper medical diagnosis. In *Nichols v.*11 Am. Nat. Ins. Co., 154 F.3d 875, 882 (8th Cir. 1998), the plaintiff objected when the 12 defendant's expert psychologist:

began to discuss psychiatric credibility, on the grounds that this was not a proper subject for expert testimony, that the term did not refer to a medical diagnosis, that there had been no foundation establishing that [the expert]'s opinion was the kind an expert should give, and that much of her testimony invaded the jury's province to determine credibility."

In Nichols, the Eight Circuit was concerned with the expert's use of the term "psychiatric credibility" – which was not a medical diagnosis – and found that it did not meet the Daubert criteria. Id. at 883. The Nichols case is inapplicable here, because Dr. Borgaro did not testify as to "psychiatric credibility." Rather, Dr. Borgaro concluded that Plaintiff met the criteria for the well-accepted medical diagnosis of "malingering."

Defendants hired Dr. Borgaro to perform an independent 22 neuropsychological exam on Plaintiff. Dr. Borgaro administered sixteen tests on Plaintiff. 23 interviewed him over two days, and reviewed his medical records. Dr. Borgaro's 24 testimony was based on her expert medical opinion that Plaintiff was malingering, 25 according to generally accepted medical criteria. Plaintiff simply ignores the fact that 26 "malingering" is a valid medical diagnosis that requires expert training and is not simply 27 an unfounded lay opinion. 28

DEFENSE COUNSEL DID NOT ENGAGE IN ANY MISCONDUCT

Plaintiff next argues that Defendants' counsel engaged in misconduct 2 requiring a new trial. In Arizona, a new trial should be granted due to alleged attorney 3 misconduct "in only the most serious cases in order to prevent a miscarriage of justice." 4 Richie v. Krasner, 221 Ariz. 288, 303, 211 P.3d 1272, 1287 (App. 2009). Most cases 5 requiring a new trial "dealt with evasive and misleading comments to the tribunal and the 6 jury, sham trials, and the improper introduction of evidence. Id. (citing In re Alcorn, 202 7 Ariz. 62, 41 P.3d 600 (2002), Leavy v. Parsell, 188 Ariz. 69, 932 P.2d 1340 (1997), and 8 Taylor v. S. Pac. Transp. Co., 130 Ariz. 516, 637 P.2d 726 (1981)). There is simply no 9 10 attorney misconduct in this case on behalf of Defendants' counsel.

A. Defense counsel properly cross-examined Dr. Wu

Plaintiff first claims Defendants' counsel improperly cross-examined Dr. 12 Wu with respect to the fact that Plaintiff's counsel only provided Dr. Wu with "select" 13 medical records. First, that would be proper cross-examination of an expert witness. But 14 more importantly, it was absolutely true in this case. Plaintiff's counsel provided Dr. Wu 15 only select medical records for him to review. The jury is entitled to know what records 16 were withheld, and what records Dr. Wu relied on to reach his opinions. Second, 17 Plaintiff's allegations are not supported by the record. Reviewing the cross-examination 18 19 of Dr. Wu, Defendants' counsel never insinuated that Plaintiff's counsel withheld specific medical records. At best, Defendants' counsel simply went through all of the records 20 21 (whether medical or otherwise) that Plaintiff's counsel chose not to provide Dr. Wu. [Exhibit A - Dr. Wu's Trial Testimony at 47:3-52:18] The only portion of Dr. Wu's 22 cross-examination that somewhat resembles Plaintiff's allegation is an innocuous question 23 that Plaintiff's counsel did not even object to: 24

Q. Okay. Let's go to Exhibit 13. Let me show you Exhibit No. 13. You reviewed, in part, at least some of Dr. Paul Sarmiento's records; is that correct?

26

28

A. Yes.

3945815.1

1 [Exhibit A at 65:3-6] Even if Plaintiff had a valid argument with respect to questioning 2 Dr. Wu on what records he reviewed, Plaintiff never objected during trial and has thus 3 waived any right to object here. Hawkins, 152 Ariz. at 496, 733 P.2d at 1079 ("A party 4 cannot urge in a motion for new trial that evidence was erroneously admitted unless a 5 proper objection, stating the specific ground of the objection, was made at the time the 6 evidence was offered, unless the error is fundamental.").

Defendants' counsel properly referred to "ROS" as "review of symptoms" because that is what his provided referred to it as Β.

Next, Plaintiff argues that Defendants' counsel improperly referred to 9 "ROS" as "review of symptoms" during Dr. Robb's cross-examination. Plaintiff's 10 counsel incorrectly mischaracterizes that testimony. During that questioning, Defendants' 11 counsel was referring to Dr. Sarmiento's records, and Dr. Sarmiento's interpretation of 12 "ROS" found in his records. During the course of Dr. Sarmiento's trial deposition, he 13 referred to "ROS" as both review of "systems" and "symptoms." He used those terms 14 interchangeably. [Exhibit B – Dr. Sarmiento's Trial Testimony at 143:3-6] There was no 15 misconduct here and the jury was not mislead. Even if there was confusion, the Court 16 issued an instruction to the jury clarifying what "ROS" meant. In addition, Plaintiff did 17 not object to this questioning during Dr. Robb's cross-examination. Hawkins, 152 Ariz. at 18 496, 733 P.2d at 1079 (an objection to evidence not made at trial is waived for purposes of a motion for new trial).

С. Defendants' Counsel properly questioned Dr. Bouzoukis regarding altered medical records

22 Plaintiff also objects, for the first time, regarding Defendants' counsel 23 questioning Dr. Bouzoukis about his medical records being altered. At the very end of Dr. 24 Bouzoukis' cross-examination, Defendants' counsel asked Dr. Bouzoukis why the records 25 he produced were different from the records that Plaintiff's counsel disclosed earlier in the 26 case (a "female" notation was changed to "male"). Plaintiff's counsel did not object. Dr. 27 Bouzoukis responded that his office did not do that, nor is his staff instructed to do so. 28 Without asking, Dr. Bouzoukis stated that it was most likely someone from Plaintiff's 3945815.1 11 counsel's office that altered it. Plaintiff never objected. Not only was the questioning proper, but Plaintiff did not object. Hawkins, 152 Ariz. at 496, 733 P.2d at 1079 (an objection to evidence not made at trial is waived for purposes of a motion for new trial).

D. Defendants' counsel properly questioned witness. Michael Cartwright, regarding him changing his testimony

Plaintiff also complains regarding the fact that witness Michael Cartwright changed his story after he met with Plaintiff and/or his attorneys. There was no misconduct here. Mr. Cartwright admitted that he changed his story. There was nothing improper about eliciting the truth regarding Mr. Cartwright changing his testimony. Plaintiff did not call Mr. Cartwright live to follow-up on this questioning. The truth is that Mr. Cartwright told the responding officers one version, and then later changed his story after he met with Plaintiff and his attorneys.¹

E. Defendants' counsel properly questioned Dr. Lobatz regarding the improper disclosure of Dr. Lobatz's opinions before Dr. Lobatz actually drafted his Report

Once again, Plaintiff complains about Defendants' counsel eliciting something that is true. In this case, Plaintiff disclosed Dr. Lobatz's anticipated opinion in a disclosure statement dated August 31, 2012. [Exhibit C – Plaintiff's 36th Supplemental Disclosure Statement Dated 8/31/12] Four and a half months later, Plaintiff then disclosed Dr. Lobatz's Report dated January 9, 2013. [Exhibit D – Plaintiff's 41st Supplemental Disclosure Statement Dated 1/14/13] There was nothing improper about asking Dr. Lobatz about the four-month discrepancy between Plaintiff's initial disclosure of his "anticipated" opinions and when Dr. Lobatz actually provided his opinions to Plaintiff's counsel through his Report. If there was any misconduct, it was Plaintiff's counsel disclosing expert opinions prior to them actually being given. In addition, Plaintiff never object to this questioning at trial, thus waiving it now in a motion for new trial. Hawkins, 152 Ariz. at 496, 733 P.2d at 1079 (an objection to evidence not made at trial is waived for purposes of a motion for new trial).

Contrary to Plaintiff's claim, Defendants never raised this issue in closings.

THE DEFENSE DID NOT VIOLATE THE COURT'S RULING ON MOTION IN LIMINE NO. 6

Plaintiff claims that Defendants' counsel somehow violated the Court's ruling on Motion in Limine No. 6 regarding Plaintiff's consumption of alcohol at prior hockey games. However, Defendants' counsel never elicited testimony regarding prior alcohol use at hockey games. The only testimony elicited was regarding Plaintiff's intoxication on the night in question. Such evidence is relevant to Plaintiff's behavior on the night in question. There is nothing improper about that evidence. In addition, Plaintiff's own neuropsychological expert, Dr. Baker, opined that Plaintiff should reduce (or eliminate) his alcohol consumption due to his alleged brain injuries. That opinion is relevant to Plaintiff's claimed damages and whether Plaintiff failed to mitigate his brain injuries due to alcohol consumption, which Dr. Baker agreed could be the case. There was no violation.

THE DEFENSE NEVER INSINUATED THAT JASON CLEMETT WAS BROKE

Plaintiff complains that Defendants' counsel improperly suggested Mr. Clemett was "broke" to create sympathy. That is not true. In Plaintiff's Opening, Plaintiff's counsel suggested that Mr. Clemett was a big-time professional football player. Defendants' counsel simply put Plaintiff's counsel's statements into context - Mr. Clemett played football part-time, made very little money doing it, and had to maintain another job to make ends meet. That was also over a decade ago. Regarding Dr. Clemett's testimony about her husband "quitting" his job to spend more time with his family, that is not improper. There was nothing inappropriate about it, and regardless, Plaintiff never objected to this line of questioning. Hawkins, 152 Ariz. at 496, 733 P.2d at 1079 (an objection to evidence not made at trial is waived for purposes of a motion for new trial).

- 3945815/1

THE DEFENSE PROPERLY USED PLAINTIFF'S PRIOR CONDUCT AT HOCKEY GAMES AS PERMITTED BY THE COURT

2 Plaintiff also argues that Defendants' counsel improperly used Plaintiff's 3 prior conduct at hockey games during closing argument. The Court, however, specifically 4 ruled that Defendants could use Plaintiff's prior conduct at hockey games as a basis for 5 his "state of mind" with respect to whether he believed he would be ejected for 6 misconduct at future games (including the game in this case). Defendants' counsel was 7 attempting to do just that - offer evidence of prior misconduct to suggest Plaintiff was 8 emboldened by that prior incident because he was not punished for it. Before Defendants' 9 counsel could finish making that argument, Plaintiff's counsel objected. [Exhibit E -10 Defendants' Closing Argument at 32:8-35:111 This was exactly what the Court ruled Defendants could use this evidence for. Nevertheless, the Court then provided a curative 12 instruction in case the jury may have used that evidence to find fault on the part of the Arena. But even this entire argument is a red herring. The jury never even allocated fault to the Arena – so how could there be error for something that never happened?

10. DEFENSE COUNSEL IMPROPERLY STATE DID NOT THAT AINTIFF HAS SUED DEFENDANT'S SPOUSES

Plaintiff also complains that Defendants improperly argued during closing 17 arguments that Plaintiff sued Defendants' spouses to paint Plaintiff in a poor light. This is 18 also a red herring. To begin, at no point during the 3-week trial did Defendants' counsel 19 even suggest Plaintiff wrongfully sued Defendants' spouses. The portion of the closing 20 argument identified by Plaintiff is innocuous and appears to be a poorly phrased sentence 21 - likely the result of poor grammar. [Exhibit E at 36:15-17] Regardless, Plaintiff did not 22 object to this statement, and it is too late to do so now. Hawkins, 152 Ariz. at 496, 733 23 P.2d at 1079 (an objection to evidence not made at trial is waived for purposes of a motion 24 for new trial). But more importantly, there is no indication that this harmless line affected 25 the jury in any way. Without a timely objection, Plaintiff cannot raise it here. 26

THE TRIAL COURT DID NOT ERR IN ALLOWING EVIDENCE RELATED TO PRIOR GAMES

Plaintiff next argues that the Court erred in allowing evidence related to Plaintiff's prior misconduct at other hockey games. Plaintiff forgets, however, that he opened the door to this evidence. During direct examination, Plaintiff testified that he never cursed at hockey games and knew the rules and never broke them. His mother also testified about how nice of a man he was before the incident. In fact, Plaintiff designated the following portion of Charles Henry's deposition²:

Q. BY MR. POWERS: Have you ever seen Mark try to pick a fight with anybody at the hockey games?

A. No.

Q. Have you ever seen Mark threaten anyone at the hockey games?

A. No.

Based on the above, Plaintiff opened the door to his conduct at other hockey games.

In addition, as the Court ruled, this evidence was relevant and admissible with respect to Plaintiff's "state of mind." Indeed, Plaintiff knew he could misbehave at the hockey games because he had done so many times before without consequence. This evidence was not used as "character evidence," although Defendants should have been permitted to use it as substantive evidence to rebut Plaintiff's evidence that he was "wellbehaved" at other hockey games. Once again, there was no error in permitting this evidence.

12. THE COURT DID NOT ERR IN ALLOWING CERTAIN FINANCIAL- RELATED EVIDENCE

Plaintiff next complains that the Court erred by allowing certain evidence related to Plaintiff's financial condition before and after the incident. Although Plaintiff claims he never made a wage loss claim, that is untrue. In Plaintiff's Initial Disclosure Statement (verified), he made a claim for lost wages and loss of earning potential due to

27

28

This was designated by Plaintiff and played to the jury at trial.

3945815,1

his alleged injuries. [Exhibit F – Plaintiff's Initial Disclosure Statement] Even though Plaintiff did not seek recovery of those alleged damages at trial, his financial condition was still highly relevant to this case.

4 First, Plaintiff's alleged inability to work directly correlates to his alleged 5 physical injuries – i.e., when he was physically able to return to work. Although he 6 testified during direct examination that it took him over 10 months to go back to work, his 7 financial documents showed otherwise. The restitution document Plaintiff complains of 8 suggests he only missed 10 days of work. But Plaintiff also ignores the fact that the 9 restitution document correlates with a letter from Plaintiff's employer, Kre8tive, which 10 stated that Plaintiff only lost 10 days of work (dated May of 2009). When Plaintiff 11 verified his Initial Disclosure Statement 2 years later, he was still claiming only 10 days of 12 missed work. When Plaintiff testified at trial that he missed 10 months of work following 13 the incident, Defendants used Plaintiff's financial documents to impeach him. In short, 14 Plaintiff was caught lying on the stand. Thus, the jury was entitled to hear evidence 15 regarding Plaintiff's employment, time away from work, and how that corresponded to 16 Plaintiff's alleged injuries.

17 Second, Plaintiff also claimed that he was suffering from severe depression 18 and anxiety, all of which was allegedly caused by this incident. However, Plaintiff's 19 medical records contained several references to depression and anxiety arising out of 20 Plaintiff's poor financial condition, including the loss of his home and his failing 21 businesses. Plaintiff's income both before and after the alleged incident was thus relevant 22 to show that the true cause of Plaintiff's depression and anxiety stemmed from his own 23 financial stress, not this incident. Regardless, the jury never even reached the issue of 24 damages because they returned a defense verdict. Mather v. Caterpillar Tractor Corp., 23 25 Ariz. 409, 533 P.2d 717 (App. 1975) (claimed errors on damages evidence irrelevant 26 where jury returns defense verdict). There was no error here.

13. THE COURT DID NOT ERR IN PRECLUDING DEFENDANT'S YOUTUBE POSTS

Plaintiff also argues that the Court erred by precluding the admission of Defendant Clemett's YouTube comments. This issue was fully briefed by the parties and the Court already ruled on this. The Court correctly ruled that the YouTube comments were incomplete, misleading, would cause confusion, and were therefore irrelevant. Plaintiff also destroyed all other YouTube comments and posts, saving only self-serving comments made by Defendant Clemett (although anonymously). As the Court already determined, the YouTube comments were correctly precluded because their admission would violate Rule 403(b).

14. THE COURT PROPERLY SANCTIONED PLAINTIFF BY CUTTING 30 MINUTES OF PLAINTIFF'S TIME

Once again, Plaintiff attempts to question the Court's decision to sanction 12 Plaintiff 30 minutes of time for Plaintiff's misconduct during trial. The Court has very 13 broad discretion in managing the flow of the trial and imposing time limits, and the 14 Court's decisions in that regard will not be disturbed absent a clear abuse of discretion. 15 See Brown v. U.S. Fid. and Guar. Co., 194 Ariz. 85, 91, ¶ 30, 977 P.2d 807, 813 (App. 16 1998) (recognizing that trial judges are in the best position to determine how much 17 hearing time is appropriate in a given case and noting that the court of appeals reviews 18 imposition of time limits for abuse of discretion); O'Rielly Motor Co. v. Rich, 3 Ariz.App. 19 21, 27, 411 P.2d 194, 200 (1966) ("We will not interfere in matters within [the trial 20 court's] discretion unless we are persuaded that the exercise of such discretion resulted in 21 a miscarriage of justice or deprived one of the litigants of a fair trial"). Here, Plaintiff 22 committed several acts of misconduct relating to deposition designations, which resulted 23 in wasted time, resources, and energy, including the Court's time and resources.³ The 24 Court properly exercised its discretion in this case to sanction Plaintiff for his misconduct. 25

15. THERE WAS NO ERROR IN LETTING A FORMER GIRLFRIEND TESTIFY

Plaintiff next objects to the Court allowing a former girlfriend testify. However, Plaintiff never objected to this. Hawkins, 152 Ariz. at 496, 733 P.2d at 1079 (an objection to evidence not made at trial is waived for purposes of a motion for new trial). But even if Plaintiff had objected, Julie Erickson was present at the subject hockey game and witnessed Plaintiff on the night in question. Plaintiff even tried to "coach" Ms. Erickson into testifying in a way that he wanted her to. There was, and is, no basis to keep Ms. Erickson from testifying.

16. THERE WAS NO ERROR CONCERNING EVIDENCE OF SEXUAL MATTERS

Next, Plaintiff argues that the Court should not have permitted any evidence 11 of Plaintiff's sexual life at trial. As the Court is aware, Plaintiff claimed sexual 12 dysfunction as one of the many items of damages in this case. He frequently raised his 13 sexual problems with his treating providers – even claiming that his emotional suffering 14 was a result of his alleged sexual dysfunction. Moreover, Plaintiff's counsel elicited 15 testimony regarding Plaintiff's sexual dysfunction from Dr. Sarmiento. Although the 16 Court precluded any reference to sexually transmitted disease, the Court correctly 17 permitted evidence of Plaintiff's sexual behavior to rebut Plaintiff's claim that he was not 18 sexually active. There was no error in permitting this limited evidence. 19

17. THERE WAS NO ERROR IN LETTING THE JURY CONSIDER JOBING.COM'S FAULT

This argument is another red herring. Plaintiff claims the jury should not have been able to consider Jobing.com's fault. But the jury never actually considered Jobing.com's fault. The jury rendered a complete defense verdict and never allocated any fault to Jobing.com. There was no error because it did not impact the jury's verdict. Notwithstanding, the Court already ruled on this issue prior to closing argument – holding that the applicable standard of care was established though Jobing.com's NHL Fan Code of Conduct. There was also sufficient evidence to establish a breach of that standard of care. Plaintiff was intoxicated, loud and obnoxious, using foul and obscene language, and was in violation of the Code of Conduct. Despite that, the security guards on duty failed to enforce their own rules. Ultimately, the Court correctly permitted this issue to go to the jury, even if the jury never allocated any fault to Jobing.com.

18. THERE WAS NO ERROR IN PRECLUDING THE SOUND ON THE VIDEOS

Plaintiff next complains that the Court should have permitted Plaintiff to play the sound attached to the subject videos. As the Court may recall, the parties stipulated before trial that the sound on the videos was not to be played before the jury. Plaintiff cannot now claim "prejudice" where he previously stipulated to the exclusion of the sound at trial.

Even if the parties had not reached that stipulation, the sound was properly excluded. Plaintiff argues that the videos, if played with sound, would have refuted Defendants' testimony that they could hear Plaintiff's vulgarities and obscenities – and supported Plaintiff's contention that he moved closer to hear what Defendants were saying. However, none of the videos were taken from where any of the parties were seated. The jury would therefore need to speculate as to what the parties heard, if anything, based on videos taken elsewhere. Without admissible evidence to establish that the sound on the videos was a reliable indicator of what the parties could or could not hear, the sound was properly excluded.

19. THE WEIGHT OF THE EVIDENCE SUPPORTED A DEFENSE VERDICT

In reviewing the sufficiency of the evidence, "[t]he basic question ... is whether the jury verdict is so manifestly unfair, unreasonable and outrageous as to shock the conscience." Hutcherson, 192 Ariz. at 55, ¶ 23, 961 P.2d at 453. In this case, the overwhelming weight of the evidence fully supported a defense verdict. As explained in prior sections, Plaintiff was hostile, aggressive, and posed a very real threat to Defendants and their wife and guest. Plaintiff's conduct alone (even before the physical altercation), caused security guard Nick Bosnak to call for a Roam Team to eject Plaintiff because he

"knew there was going to be a fight." That was before any punches were thrown. Plaintiff also waived Defendant Clemett up to him, telling them he was going "f him up."

In addition to Plaintiff's obscene, outrageous, and threatening behavior, the jurors also heard Plaintiff lie to them time and again. This case rested heavily on credibility - and by the end of trial, Plaintiff had none. He gave multiple conflicting versions of the incident. There was evidence that Plaintiff attempted to suborn perjury from Julie Erickson. Plaintiff also made threatening phone calls to security guard Nick Bosnak demanding that he change his story to police. There was more than enough evidence presented to find that Plaintiff was the aggressor and that Defendants acted reasonably to stop Plaintiff from harming them or their wife and guest. Plaintiff was a bully - he does not deserve another trial.

CONCLUSION

For the reasons stated above, Plaintiff's Motion for New Trial should be denied.

| | 1 | | | | |

Grant Thornton served as Koss' outside financial auditor from at least 2004 1 through 2009. Had it provided even a modicum of its professed expertise - or paid the 2 3 slightest attention – Grant Thornton would have noticed that over $20 million of company profits went missing. Indeed, through Sachdeva's simple scheme, many 4 multiples more than the profits Grant Thornton was reporting were stolen under its 5 "experts" noses. Put simply, Grant Thornton had the ability – and professional 6 7 responsibility - to put an end to Sachdeva's embezzlement, but failed to do so. Had 8 Grant Thornton responsibly performed its financial audits, Sachdeva's crimes would 9 have ceased years earlier. The TPC, therefore, properly asserts claims for equitable indemnity and declaratory relief against Grant Thornton and its Motion to Dismiss is 10 without legal support or merit. 11

First, contrary to Grant Thornton's assertions and given that Koss sued AMEX in Arizona, there is no requirement that any relationship – let alone any particular relationship – must exist to bring a claim for equitable indemnity. In fact, Arizona case law suggests just the opposite. Even if a relationship were required – which it is not – there is more than a sufficient nexus between AMEX and Grant Thornton to trigger the equitable principles of indemnity.

18 Second, Grant Thornton's motion misinterprets and misconstrues the TPC. In it, 19 AMEX does not seek to allocate fault. Rather, AMEX seeks to shift the entirety of any 20 loss it might experience as a result of Koss' underlying litigation to a party who more 21 justly deserves it – Grant Thornton. Since Arizona law permits parties to pursue
22 equitable indemnity claims under the circumstances presented here, Grant Thornton's
23 motion should, therefore, be denied in its entirety.¹

II.

BACKGROUND FACTS

Koss' Underlying Lawsuit Against AMEX. Α.

Koss' Complaint (the "Complaint") against AMEX focuses on a small 3 (approximately two-year) portion of a ten-plus year crime spree during which the former 4 Vice President of Finance at Koss, Sachdeva, allegedly stole well over $20 million 5 dollars (approximately $34 million dollars in total) from Koss and "fraudulently 6 concealed and failed to disclose her conduct to the officers and directors of the 7 Company." Koss' Complaint ("Compl.") ¶ 9, 14, 22. Sachdeva used the money she 8 stole to pay for a lavish lifestyle that included, among other things, countless clothing 9 and jewelry purchases from high-end retailers, some of which were charged to her 10 American Express credit cards. Id. ¶ 19. To cover up her embezzlement, Sachdeva also 11 engaged in massive accounting fraud. See id. ¶¶ 14-15, 32-33. 12

Koss claims that – somehow – none of its officers or directors did or should have 13 noticed this massive embezzlement. See id. Instead, Koss' mismanagement allowed the 14 crimes to continue unchecked until AMEX (the only one to put a stop to Sachdeva's 15 crimes) contacted Michael J. Koss, Chief Executive Officer and, at the time, Chief 16 Financial Officer of Koss, on December 18, 2009 to alert him to some of Sachdeva's credit card activity and offered to put him in touch with law enforcement. TPC, ¶ 2. 18

Even though no one at Koss or any of Koss' financial auditors discovered 19 Sachdeva's massive embezzlement, Koss claims that AMEX (connected to Sachdeva 20solely because, at times, she used American Express credit cards to make purchases) 21 should have detected it sooner. Koss alleges that, by accepting wire transfers and 22 cashier's checks from Sachdeva to pay her account balances, AMEX somehow aided 23 and abetted her breach of her fiduciary duty to Koss and her fraud. Compl., ¶ 27-28; 24 34-35. Koss also asserts a conversion claim. Id. ¶¶ 38-40. 25

В. AMEX's Complaint Against Grant Thornton LLP and Others. AMEX did not know of Sachdeva's embezzlement and it did not cause any damage to Koss; quite the opposite. To the extent anyone is responsible for the financial loss to Koss, other than Sachdeva, it is others, including Koss' former auditor, Grant Thornton, which should be held responsible.

3 Grant Thornton served as Koss' auditor for, at least, fiscal years 2004 through 4 2009. TPC, ¶ 40. During this time, Grant Thornton prepared financial audit statements 5 for Koss. Id. Equally important, however, is what Grant Thornton failed to do for all of these years. Grant Thornton failed in its most basic duty to perform adequate financial 6 7 statement audits and simple analysis that should have easily identified significant and 8 fundamental discrepancies and misstatements created and caused by Sachdeva's massive 9 theft. TPC, ¶ 42. Under the circumstances revealed by Sachdeva's criminal prosecution 10 and other litigation involving Koss, it is remarkable how badly Grant Thornton missed 11 (or ignored) standard cautionary red flags and ignored cautionary and proper audit 12 procedure. Id. For example, Grant Thornton failed to question entries in the general 13 ledger or journal entries, failed to adequately inquire about the large sums of money sent 14 by cashier's checks and wire transfer, and repeatedly used new auditors – rather than 15 experienced ones – on Koss accounts for training purposes. Id. If Grant Thornton had 16 performed the job it was paid by Koss to do, as a function of its critical role to any 17 company, it would have caught Sachdeva's preventable and easily detectable 18 embezzlement. The TPC seeks equitable indemnity and declaratory relief to shift the 19 entire loss – if any – to Grant Thornton and/or others.

III. AMEX'S THIRD-PARTY COMPLAINT AGAINST GRANT THORNTON SUFFICIENTLY STATES CLAIMS FOR RELIEF

In its Motion, Grant Thornton contends that the TPC should be dismissed because AMEX fails to allege a particular type of relationship with Grant Thornton. Given that Koss has sued AMEX in Arizona, that Motion misinterprets the law. As an initial matter, nowhere does Arizona law specify that any relationship, let alone any particular relationship, must exist between an equitable indemnitee and indemnitor. Moreover, even if such a relationship were required under Arizona law, where Koss chose to sue

AMEX, AMEX has alleged a sufficient nexus to Grant Thornton and its actions – or lack thereof – to trigger and utilize the equitable principles of equitable indemnity.

A. Arizona Law Does Not Require AMEX To Allege A Relationship with Grant Thornton To Bring Its Claims.

Grant Thornton cites to no Arizona statutory or common law authority requiring a relationship between an equitable indemnitee and indemnitor because no such requirement exists. Confusing the issue, and because it is the most it could find, Grant Thornton relies on Schweber Electronics v. National Semiconductor Corp., 174 Ariz.
406, 410, 850 P.2d 119, 123 (1992), for the proposition that, "the cornerstone of implied indemnity is the relationship of the parties." See Motion at 6.

11 Grant Thornton's citation, which is taken out of context, does not support its Motion. First, the quoted language is nothing more than dicta in a case that actually 12 13 holds, in part and with respect to implied contractual indemnity, that, "implied indemnity should [not] be limited to tort cases involving dangerously defective 14 15 products." Schweber Elecs., 174 Ariz. at 410, 850 P.2d at 123. Second, to the extent there is anything more to glean from this decision related to the issue of indemnity, the 16 17 Schweber court draws a clear distinction between: (1) contractual indemnity; (2) 18 implied contractual indemnity (at issue in the Schweber case); and (3) equitable 19 indemnity. The Schweber court notes that, "pursuant to the Restatement and equitable principles of restitution, 'in the absence of [1] an express indemnity agreement, a party 20 21 has a right to indemnity when there is [2] an implied contract for indemnity or [3] when justice demands there be the right." Id. (emphasis added). To the extent there is any 22 23 relationship requirement at all, it is only with respect to contractual and/or implied 24 contractual indemnity. Thus, the availability of indemnity "when justice demands there 25 be the right" cannot, as a matter of principle and logic, require a defined relationship.

Grant Thornton likewise cites to and overstates the importance of INA Insurance Company of North America v. Valley Forge Insurance Company, 150 Ariz. 248, 722
P.2d 975 (1986). INA Insurance holds only that the existence of an indemnity contract or indemnity provision in a contract precludes the application of implied indemnity principles. 150 Ariz. at 252, 722 P.2d at 979. The idea that, "absent such a relationship, there is simply no basis for implying a right to indemnity" cannot be found in Schweber, INA Insurance or any other Arizona case. See Motion at 6.

Equitable indemnity claims in Arizona require only that an obligation has arisen 5 6 such that one party should indemnify the other. See, e.g., A.I.D. Insurance Services v. Riley, 25 Ariz. App. 132, 136, 541 P.2d 595, 599 (1976) (the right of indemnity exists 7 8 when, "either in law or equity there is an obligation on one party to indemnify the other."). Likewise, the court in Evans Withycombe, Inc. v. Western Innovations, Inc., 9 215 Ariz. 237, 242, 159 P.3d 547, 552 (2006) affirmed that, "both common-law and 10 contractual indemnity 'share the same basis' – that is an 'obligation resting on one party 11 to make good a loss or damage another party has incurred." (emphasis added). As such, 12 13 AMEX properly and sufficiently alleges that Grant Thornton is obligated to indemnify 14 AMEX for any loss related to the underlying litigation. See, e.g., TPC, ¶ 40, 41, 43 ("Grant Thornton also caused Koss' loss" because it "served as Koss' auditor" and 15 "prepared financial audit statements for Koss" during the relevant time period; "Grant 16 Thornton performed these services negligently, recklessly and inappropriately. Grant 17 18 Thornton did not perform in a manner that met the standard for due professional care. 19 As a result, Grant Thornton failed to detect Sachdeva's large-scale and obvious 20embezzlement."). AMEX's allegations that Grant Thornton's failure to perform its 21 professional financial auditing services resulted in the meritless lawsuit brought by Koss 22 against AMEX is more than sufficient to maintain its claim for equitable indemnity.

B. Arizona Law Does Not Require a Specific Type of Relationship for AMEX To Bring Its Claims.

Even if Arizona law required some sort of relationship between the parties to bring a claim for equitable indemnity – which it does not – Grant Thornton has not and cannot cite to a single case or statute with respect to the type of relationship supposedly required.

1 The reason for this is simple – there is no such requirement that any particular 2 type of relationship exist to bring a claim for implied contractual indemnity, let alone 3 equitable indemnity. In fact, Arizona case law (like other states) is replete with 4 examples of implied contractual indemnity cases (some including equitable indemnity 5 claims as well) where the connection between the parties varies greatly depending on the 6 factual circumstances. See, e.g., Evans Withycombe, 215 Ariz. 237, 159 P.3d 547 (2006) 7 (contractor/subcontractor); Grubb & Ellis Mgmt. Servs., Inc. v. 407417 B.C., L.L.C., 213 Ariz. 83, 138 P.3d 1210 (2006) (landlord/property manager); Heatec, Inc. v. R.W. 8 9 Beckett Corp., 219 Ariz. 293, 197 P.3d 754 (2008) (product seller/manufacturer); Unique Equipment Co., Inc. v. TRW Vehicle Safety Systems, Inc., 197 Ariz. 50, 3 P.3d 10 970 (1999) (employer/employee); Schweber Elecs., 174 Ariz. 406, 850 P.2d 119 (1992) 11 12 (distributor/manufacturer); INA Insurance, 150 Ariz. 248, 722 P.2d 975 (1986) (insurer/insured). 13

14 While the issue has not squarely been addressed in any Arizona appellate 15 decision, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit has been asked to decide 16 whether "implied equitable indemnity should be available only in certain well-defined 17 situations involving joint tortfeasors, principal and agent, or employer and employee." 18 Hydro-Air Equipment, Inc. v. Hyatt Corp., 852 F.2d 403, 406 (9th Cir. 1988) (emphasis 19 added). In rejecting the notion, the Ninth Circuit held that, "[t]he equitable policies 20 underlying implied equitable indemnity would often be frustrated if, as [respondent] 21 suggests, the parties were required to be in one of a limited number of narrow 22 relationships to qualify for indemnity. Id. at 407 (emphasis added).

The Ninth Circuit focused on fairness and explained that the finder of fact must wexamine the relationship or nexus between the parties when evaluating whether it is fair to require the indemnitor to pay the losses incurred." Id. at 406. Specifically, "[i]n evaluating a claim for implied indemnity, courts must carefully examine both parties' conduct on a case-by-case basis, with the ultimate goal of doing what is fair or just. Id. (emphasis added). The Ninth Circuit acknowledged that, "[w]hile it is true that the obligation to indemnify clearly arises in certain situations, for example, when a master servant relationship exists, implied equitable indemnity may be entirely proper if it is simply fairer to shift the burden of loss. Hydro-Air, 852 F.2d at 406.

Accordingly, with this in mind, the Ninth Circuit held in Hydro-Air that the 4 5 connection between appellant-successor-in-interest and respondent-manufacturer was sufficient to maintain a claim for equitable indemnity because the appellant "may be 6 7 held liable for product defects caused by [respondent]." Id. The court explained that, 8 "[t]he equitable nature of implied indemnity ... precludes the use of the strict standards urged by [respondent]," and that the principle of implied equitable indemnity is designed 9 to prohibit one from profiting by his own wrong at the expense of one who is either free 10 11 from fault or negligent to a lesser degree." Id. Here, AMEX's equitable indemnity and 12 declaratory relief claims against Grant Thornton are likewise designed to prevent Grant Thornton from profiting by its own wrong at the expense of AMEX. No more is 13 required. 14

C. A Sufficient Nexus Exists Between AMEX and Grant Thornton To Support AMEX's Claims.

The TPC alleges a significant nexus between AMEX and Grant Thornton sufficient to trigger the equitable principles of indemnity. Koss alleges that AMEX converted Koss' funds and aided and abetted Sachdeva's breach of fiduciary duty and fraud. See Compl., ¶¶ 24-41. To the extent AMEX pays anything to Koss, the TPC ensures that a party with real responsibility for Koss' allegations (i.e. harms resulting from Sachdeva's embezzlement not being identified earlier) is held accountable and does not benefit and escape liability for its own wrongdoing.

D. AMEX Does Not Seek To Allocate Fault Through Its Claims.

AMEX does not rely on principles of equitable indemnity nor any of its thirdparty claims to allocate fault. The Uniform Contribution Among Tortfeasors Act ("UCATA") was enacted for that very purpose and its existence does not displace equitable indemnity nor does it prohibit its use or application. A.R.S. § 12-2501(F)(1)

(preserving right to indemnity under UCATA); see also A.R.S. § 12-2506; A.R.S. § 12-2504.

3 The purpose of equitable indemnity is to "shift the entire loss to one who more justly deserves it," and to, "give full restitution to one who pays damages but is without 4 5 personal fault." Herstam v. Deloitte & Touche, LLP, 186 Ariz. 110, 118, 919 P.2d 1381, 1389 (1996). As such, AMEX alleges that it "did not cause Koss' damages" and that it 6 7 "den[ies] Koss' allegations that [it is] somehow liable to Koss and den[ies] that [it] ha[s] 8 caused Koss any damage." TPC, ¶¶ 4, 27; see also id. ¶ 45. The very purpose of the 9 TPC is to shift the entire loss - if any - to those more justly liable, including GrantThornton. 10

Grant Thornton misplaces reliance on Herstam for the far-reaching proposition that "any allocation of fault to a putative indemnitee forecloses the right to common law indemnity." See Motion at 8. The Herstam court, however, does not so hold.

14 In Herstam, the receiver for an insolvent insurance company brought lawsuits 15 against the company's former directors, officers, accountants and attorneys claiming that they acted in concert to injure the company. 186 Ariz. at 113, 919 P.2d at 1385. 16 17 Following resolution by some defendants, the court approved settlement agreements and entered dismissal and bar orders. Id. at 114. By signing the settlement agreements with 18 19 some of the defendants, the injured party waived its right to seek joint liability from both 20 the settling and nonsettling defendants and specifically held the nonsettling defendants 21 only severally liable. Id. at 113. The nonsettling defendants appealed, challenging the 22 settlement agreements, in part, on the grounds that the agreements eliminated their right to seek contribution and indemnity from others. Id. On appeal, the court was asked to 23 decide whether a party allegedly injured by concerted action that normally would subject 24 25 all parties to joint and several liability can "waive the right to hold the nonsettling parties jointly liable and thereby bar the nonsettling parties from seeking contribution and 26indemnity from the settling parties." Id. at 114. 27

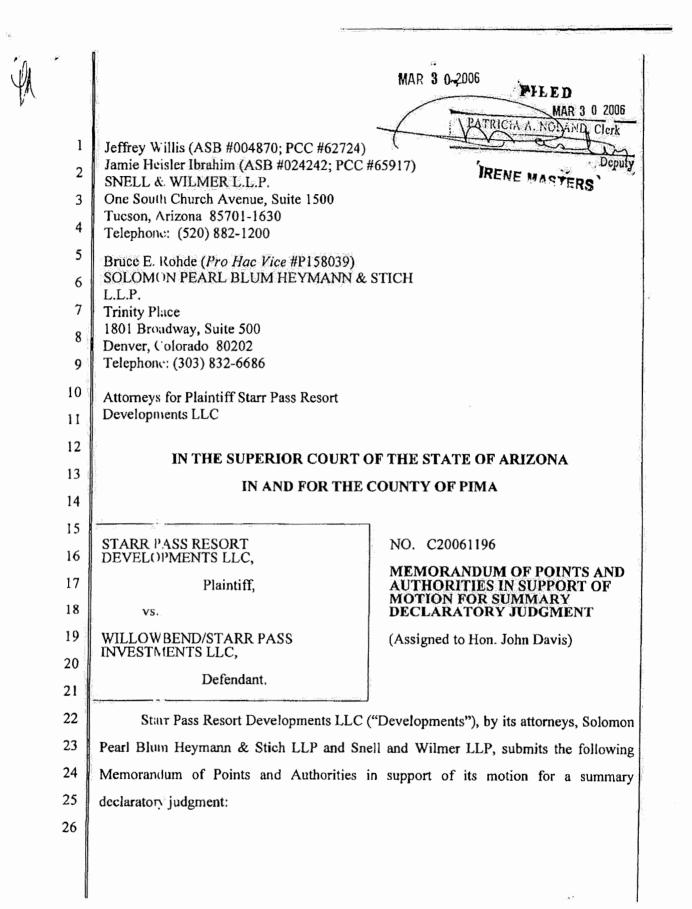

1 Importantly, the Herstam court specifically examined only whether a particular 2 settlement agreement which imposed a "mutual ban and permanent injunction on all 3 contribution claims between any nonsettling and settling party and on indemnity claims. ... deprived a party of its due process right or property interest in those claims. Id. at 4 114. While the court held that the nonsettling parties had no implied rights of 5 contribution or indemnity under the circumstances presented in Herstam, the court based 6 7 its decision on: (1) the fact that courts routinely "permit[] the waiver of advantageous 8 statutory provisions by the intended beneficiaries" (the settlement agreements in Herstam waived the injured parties' legal right to hold nonsettling parties jointly liable); 9 (2) the tendency for "the law [to] favor compromise and settlement" (Herstam involved 10 "numerous parties," a "complaint that exceed[ed] 500 pages" and the court stressed that 11 12 "even a partial compromise without the necessity of trial benefits both the parties and 13 the court and should be encouraged" and that the receiver's "promise to protect the settling parties from contribution or indemnity by eliminating joint liability claims was 14 undoubtedly a substantial inducement to the settlement."); and (3) the lack of any 15 inequity to the nonsettling parties. Id. at 115-16. 16

Herstam is inapposite. Unlike Herstam, the TPC does not involve any waiver of an advantageous statutory provision by the intended beneficiary, nor does it involve any settlement agreement, or partial resolution of a case, concerning joint tortfeasors. The holding in Herstam case cannot be stretched and generalized to touch on entirely different facts, circumstances and issues.

Neither Herstam nor the UCATA foreclose the opportunity for recovery under equitable indemnity principles. Indeed, Arizona courts have heard and issued rulings in equitable and implied contractual indemnity cases post-Herstam and post-UCATA enactment to more justly shift liability. In Evans Withycombe, for example, a contractor sued for defective construction brought a claim for indemnity against its sub-contractors.
215 Ariz. at 238, 159 P.3d at 548. The trial court granted the sub-contractor's motion for summary judgment based on a statute of repose. Id. On appeal, the appellate court

I. STATEMENT OF FACTS

12

13

14

15

A. Corporate Structure

Starr Pass Resort Developments LLC ("Developments") is a Delaware limited liability company which owns certain real property and improvements in Tucson, Arizona, known as the J.W. Marriott Starr Pass Resort and Spa (the "Resort"). (Plaintiff's Statement of Facts ("SOF") ¶ 1.)

Starr Pass Resort Holdings LLC ("Resort Holdings") is a separate Delaware limited company which is the sole member of Developments. (SOF § 2.)

9 Starr Pass Holdings LLC ("Holdings") is another separate Delaware limited 10 company which is sole member of Resort Holdings. (SOF ¶ 3.) Holdings is owned by its 11 two Members:

- 73.5% by Signature Properties LLC, a Delaware limited liability company ("Signature"); and
- (2) 26.5% by Defendant Willowbend/Starr Pass Investments LLC, a Delaware limited liability company ("Willowbend").

16 (SOF ¶ 4.) However, Holdings is controlled equally by Signature and Willowbend. (SOF
17 ¶ 5.)

18 Mr. F. Christopher Ansley is the Chief Executive Officer and President of 19 Developments and is Chairman of the Board of Directors of Developments. (SOF ¶ 6.) 20 Mr. Anslev is also the Chief Executive Officer and President of Resort Holdings. (SOF ¶ 21 7.) Mr. Ansley is also the Chief Executive Officer and President of Holdings and the 22 Chairman of the Board of Directors of Holdings. (SOF ¶ 8.) He represents Signature. 23 (SOF ¶ 9.) Further, at the hearing on Developments' request for injunctive relief, the 24 parties stipulated that F. Christopher Ansley is the President and Chief Executive Officer 25 of Developments, Resort Holdings and Holdings. (SOF ¶ 10.)

The Board of Directors of Developments has not removed or replaced Mr. Ansley 1 and is not likely to do so because its Board of Directors is composed of three members: 2 one who represents Willowbend, one who represents Signature and a third who is 3 independent but who does not have authority to vote to replace Mr. Ansley. (SOF ¶ 11,) 4 Nor is the sole member of Developments, Resort Holdings, likely to replace Mr. Ansley, 5 or reconstitute the Board of Directors of Developments so it can replace Mr. Ansley, 6 because Resort Holdings is managed by its sole member, Holdings, and Holdings is 7 controlled equally by Signature and Willowbend. (SOF ¶ 12.) 8

B. The Financing and Refinancing of the Resort

Developments obtained senior financing from a syndicate of banks led by 10 Scotiabank ("Senior Lenders") to fund the construction of the Resort (the "Senior Debt"). 11 (SOF ¶ 13.) Developments also obtained financing from Marriott International Capital 12 Corporation ("Marriott") to help fund the Resort (the "Mezzanine Debt"). (SOF ¶ 14.) 13 The Senior Debt is secured by a first priority deed of trust on the Resort. (SOF \P 15.) 14 Under the terms of the Agreements between Developments and the Senior Lenders 15 regarding the Senior Debt, the Senior Debt matured and became due and payable on 16 March 28, 2006. (SOF ¶ 16.) 17

Under the terms of Developments' agreement with Marriott, Developments' failure to pay the Senior Debt in full when it is due constitutes a default on the Mezzanine Debt. $(SOF \P 17.)$ Accordingly, Developments is in the process of trying to obtain refinancing of both the Senior Debt and the Mezzanine Debt with the assistance of Jones Lang Lasalle, an investment banker and loan broker, pursuant to an agreement with Jones Lang Lasalle. $(SOF \P 18.)$

Jones Lang Lasalle solicited and obtained Credit Suisse as a prospective lender to provide refinancing of both the Senior Debt and the Mezzanine Debt of at least $120 million. (SOF ¶ 19.) However, before Credit Suisse would proceed to consider providing such refinancing, it insisted that a Term Sheet be signed by someone who apparently has the power and authority to close such refinancing on behalf of Developments and that it be paid a fee in excess of $200,000. (SOF \P 20.) Unless the Term Sheet was signed and the Fee was paid, Credit Suisse would not proceed. (SOF \P 21.)

C. The Disputes Between Developments and Willowbend

Disputes arose between Developments and Willowbend regarding Mr. Ansley's power and authority to negotiate and set the terms of the refinancing, sign the Term Sheet, pay the Fee and close the refinancing. (SOF ¶ 22.) As a result, Willowbend contacted Scotiabank, Marriott, Credit Suisse and Jones Lang Lasalle regarding Developments' refinancing efforts. (SOF ¶ 23.)

After the Hearing on Developments' request for injunctive relief with respect to 11 Willowbend's communications with third parties concerning the refinancing, Mr. Ansley 12 signed the Term Sheet as C.E.O. and President of Developments and the fee was paid to 13 Credit Suisse. (SOF ¶ 24.) Even though the Term Sheet has been signed and the Fee has 14 been paid. Credit Suisse will require at least 30 days to complete its due diligence and 15 close the refinancing. (SOF ¶ 25.) If Credit Suisse does not elect to provide the 16 refinancing, then Jones Lang Lasalle will have to find a new potential lender, which will 17 be difficult or impossible unless the issue of who has the power and authority to close the 18 refinancing on behalf of Developments is resolved. (SOF $\P 26$.) 19

Willowbend still denies that Mr. Ansley has the power and authority to negotiate the ultimate terms of the refinancing and close the refinancing, and Willowbend will not close the refinancing unless its representatives play an equal role in the negotiations and approve the ultimate terms. (SOF \P 27.)

Meanwhile, Scotiabank will not extend the Senior Loan unless Willowbend reaffirms its existing guarantee of the Senior Loan during the extension period, and Willowbend will not do that unless Developments acquiesces and agrees that its affairs be governed by the Holdings' operating agreement instead of the Developments' operating agreement. (SOF ¶ 28.) Thus, Developments' and Willowbend's rights, status and other legal relations are in dispute.

Pursuant to A.R.S. § 12-1832, et. seq., and Rule 57, Ariz.R.Civ.P., Developments has requested the Court to declare and adjudge the Parties' rights, status, and other legal relations including, inter alia, those arising under the terms of the operating agreements of Developments, Resort Holdings and Holdings.

The Developments Agreement is clear and unambiguous and provides, inter alia:

"[Resort Holdings] agrees that its rights, powers, duties and obligations as the Member of [Developments] shall be governed by the terms and provisions of this Agreement";

"Except as otherwise expressly provided in [Developments'] Certificate of Formation or this Agreement, the rights and obligations of [Resort Holdings] with respect to [Developments] will be governed by the [Delaware Limited Liability Company] Act";

Resort Holdings] is authorized and empowered:

- (a) "to appoint . . . one or more persons . . . to act on behalf of [Developments] as directors or officers of [Developments] with such titles as may be appropriate including the titles of Chairman, President, Vice-President, Treasurer, Secretary, and Assistant Secretary, and
- (b) to delegate any and all power and authority with respect to the business and affairs of [Developments] to any individual or entity, including any directors or officers and employees of [Developments]";

> "Any person appointed as the director or an officer of [Developments] with the title customarily held by a director or officer of a corporation shall have the same power and authority to act on behalf of [Developments] as a director or an officer holding the same title would customarily have in a corporation organized under the laws of Delaware";

"Each director or officer of [Developments] shall serve at the convenience of [Resort Holdings] and shall hold such office until he or she dies, is removed by [Resort Holdings] or until a successor is appointed by [Resort Holdings]";

> "Any person or entity dealing with [Developments] may rely upon the certificates signed by [Resort Holdings], any officer of [Resort Holdings], or the President, Treasurer or Secretary of [Developments] as to:

(a) the persons or entities which are authorized to execute and deliver any instrument or document of or on behalf of [Developments], and

(b) The persons who or entities which are authorized to take any action or refrain from taking any action as to any matter whatsoever involving [Developments]"; and

> "[The] Agreement contains the entire agreement of [Resort Holdings] with respect to the subject matter [thereof], supersedes all prior agreements relating to the subject matter thereof and may not be changed, altered, or amended, except by a written instrument signed by [Resort Holdings]."

19> The Developments Agreement provides that Delaware law governs and20controls Developments, Resort Holdings, and Holdings. (SOF ¶¶ 29-36.)

Even though Willowbend claims that Developments' affairs are actually governed by the Holdings Agreement instead of the Developments Agreement, and that, under the Holdings Agreement, the refinancing of the Senior Debt and Mezzanine Debt by Developments requires the approval of Holdings Board of Directors (SOF ¶ 37), Willowbend admits that, in order for the Court to rule that Developments' affairs are governed by the Holdings Agreement instead of the Developments Agreement, the Court would be required to ignore the clear and unambiguous terms of the several provisions of the Developments operating agreement, specifically including the Intergration Clause.

 (SOF ¶ 39.)

Developments is not a party to the Holdings Agreement. (SOF ¶ 40.) Further, Developments did not even exist when the Holdings Agreement was made and entered into. (SOF ¶ 41.) Instead, the Developments Agreement was made and entered into, with Willowbend's knowledge, approval and consent, a full year after the Holdings Agreement was made and entered into. (SOF ¶ 42.)

9 The Holdings Agreement requires the approval of the Holdings Board of Directors
10 before a number of Holdings (Signature or Willowbend) can "authorize" Developments' 11 refinancing of the Senior Debt or Mezzanine Debt. It does not require Holdings' Board of 12 Directors to authorize Developments own refinancing. (SOF ¶ 43.)

13 The Developments Agreement gives Developments, itself, without the 14 authorization of Holdings (or Signature or Willowbend), the right and power to obtain 15 refinancing. (SOF ¶ 44.) On the one hand, the Holdings Agreement does not address the 16 Developments Agreement or the Resort Holdings Agreement but, once again, the 17 Developments Agreement, on the other hand, specifically provides that it "supersedes all 18 prior agreements relating to the subject matter hereof." (SOF ¶¶ 46-47.)

Even if the authorization of the Holdings Board of Directors were necessary, Holdings did, in fact, authorize the engagement of Jones Lang Lasalle to obtain refinancing of the Senior Debt and Mezzanine Debt. (SOF ¶ 48.)

22 II. CHOICE OF LAW

23

A. Delaware Law Applies.

When analyzing conflict of laws problems, Arizona courts look to the Restatement (Second) of Conflict of Laws for guidance. See Gemstar Ltd. v. Ernst and Young, 185 Ariz. 493, 500, 917 P.2d 222, 229 (1996). Section 302(2) and the comments to that Section explain that the place of incorporation governs issues regarding an entity's 1 "internal affairs," including governance. Id at 501, 917 P.2d at 230. Here, Developments 2 was formed in Delaware. Further, the Developments Agreement has a choice of law 3 provision which states that Delaware law applies. Arizona courts defer to such provisions 4 unless the chosen state has no substantial relationship to the parties or the transaction and 5 there is no reasonable basis for the parties' choice or the application of the law of the 6 chosen state would be contrary to a fundamental policy of the state of Arizona. See 7 Swanson v. The Image Bank, Inc., 206 Ariz. 264, 77 P.3d 439 (2003) (citing Restatement) 8 (Second) of Conflict of Laws Section 187(1) and (2)). 9

В. The Delaware Parol Evidence Rule Applies

Procedural matters are governed by Arizona law, See Ross v. Ross, 96 Ariz. 249, 11 393 P.2d 933 (1964); Taylor v. Security National Bank, 20 Ariz.App. 504, 514 P.2d 257 12 (1973); Cardon v. Cotton Lane Holdings, Inc., 173 Ariz. 203, 841 P.2d 198 (1992); 13 Restatement (Second) of Conflict of Laws, Sections 122 and 135 (1971). However, the 14 parol evidence rule is not a procedural matter. Instead, it is a substantive rule of law. See 15 Gulutta v. Triano, 125 Ariz. 144, 145, 608 P2d 81, 82 (Ariz. App. 1980) ("the parol 16 evidence rule is a doctrine of substantive law and not merely an exclusionary role of 17 evidence): Brandywine Shoppe, Inc. v. State Farm Fire & Cas. Co., 307 A.2d 806, 809 18 (Del. Supp. 1973) ("the parol evidence rule is a rule of substantive law and not a rule of 19 evidence."). 20

24

25

26

III.

THE COURT SHOULD GRANT DEVELOPMENTS' REQUEST FOR SUMMARY DECLARATORY RELIEF

Summary Judgment Standard

A motion for summary judgment may be granted where the record demonstrates that there are no material questions of fact, and that, based upon the undisputed material facts, the moving party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. See Ferree v. City of Yuma, 124 Ariz. 225, 226, 603 P.2d 117, 118 (App. 1979). The purpose of Ariz.R.Civ.P.

56 is "to resolve whether material issues of fact exist, and if none do, then to enter judgment for the moving party if he is entitled to it as a matter of law." Union Bank v.
Pfeffer, 18 Ariz.App. 386, 502 P.2d 535 (1972). Rule 56 was not intended "to grant a trial on the morits when there is no genuine fact issue." Id. Here, there is no genuine fact issue, and judgment for Developments is proper as a matter of law.

6

B. Declaratory Relief is Appropriate

The Court has the power to declare the rights, status and other legal relations of the parties. See A.R.S. § 12-1831 et. seq. (the "Act"); see also 10 Del. C. § 6501 et. seq.
(Delaware's Declaratory Judgment Act). The Act should be liberally construed to accomplish the purposes for which it was designed. See A.R.S. § 12-1842; Connolly v.
Great Basin Insurance Co., 6 Ariz.App. 280, 431 P.2d 921 (1967); see also Phillips
Petroleum Company v. Arco Alaska, Inc., 1985 Del. Ch. Lexis 414 (1985).

The parties to a contract may seek a declaration of their rights and obligations to 13 one another under the contract. See A.R.S. § 12-1832; Bowen v. Watz, 5 Ariz.App. 519, 14 428 P.2d 694 (1967); see also Phillips Petroleum, supra. For example, in Podol v. 15 Jacobs, 65 Ariz. 50, 173 P.2d 758 (1946), a tenant obtained a declaratory judgment 16 regarding its right to specific performance of an option to purchase the leased premises 17 and his right to possession of the premises so that he could prevent the landlord from 18 pursuing a forceable entry and detainer proceeding. Here, like the tenant in Podol, 19 Developments requires a declaratory judgment regarding its rights so it can obtain and 20 close the refinancing and prevent the Senior Lenders from foreclosing. 21

C. The Court Can Grant Declaratory Relief as a Matter of Law

Under the Act, when a proceeding involves the determination of issues of fact, the issues may be tried and determined by a jury just as they are in any other civil action. However, where the questions involved are strictly ones of law, the court should decide them (and the court may order speedy hearing). Ariz.R.Civ.P. 57; Del.R.Civ.P. 57. The interpretation of the plain and unambiguous terms of the Developments Agreement presents a question of law for the Court to decide. See Hadley v. Southwest Properties, Inc., 116 Ariz. 503, 570 P.2d 190 (1977); Klair v. Reese, 531 A.2d 219 (Del. 1987); In re Walt Disney Co. Derivative Litigation, 2005 WL 2056651, *28 (Del.Ch. 2005) ("Interpretation of [a company's] internal governing documents is a matter exclusively for the Court.").

The issue of whether the Developments Agreement is ambiguous in the first place also presents a question of the law for the Court to decide. Pasco Indus., Inc. v. Talco Recycling. Inc., 195 Ariz. 50, 62, 985 P.2d 535, 547 (App. 1998); NBC Universal, Inc. v. Paxson Comm. Corp., 2005 Del. Ch. Lexis 56 (2005).

11

D. Contracts Should Be Enforced According To Their Terms

One of the most fundamental duties of the Courts is to enforce contracts according to the laws of their terms. See Shattuck v. Precision-Toyota, Inc., 115 Ariz. 586, 588, 566 P.2d 1332. 1334 (1977); Citadel Holding Corp. v. Roven, 603 A.2d 818, 822 (Del. 1992). In Shattuck, the Arizona Supreme Court held that:

Where parties bind themselves by a lawful contract, in the absence of 16 fraud a court must give effect to the contract as it is written, and the 17 terms or provisions of the contract, where clear and unambiguous, are conclusive. The intent of the parties, as ascertained by the language used, 18 must control the interpretation of the contract. It is not within the province 19 or power of the court to alter, revise, modify, extend, rewrite or remake an agreement. Its duty is confined to the construction or interpretation of the 20 one which the parties have made for themselves. Where the intent of the 21 parties is expressed in clear and unambiguous language, there is no need or room for construction or interpretation and a court may not resort 22 thereto.

Id. (emphasis added). Similarly, in Citadel Holding, the Delaware Supreme Court held that "[i]t is an elementary canon of contract construction that the intent of the parties must be ascertained from the language of the contract...The language of the Agreement must therefore be the starting point." Citadel Holding, 603 A.2d at 822.

The Developments Agreement is, of course, a contract and therefore it is subject to 1 the same rules of interpretation and enforcement as any other contract. Mordka v. Mordka 2 Enterprises, 143 Ariz. 298, 693 P.2d 953 (App. 1984) (where the court held that a 3 resolution signed by the shareholders of a corporation was a contract and enforced it); 4 Swanson v. The Image Bank, 206 Ariz. 264, 77 P.3d 439 (2003). The law is the same in 5 Delaware, Hibbert v. Hollywood Park, Inc., 457 A.2d 339 (Del. 1983); Gentile v. 6 Singlepoint Fm., Inc., 788 A.2d 111 (Del. 2001) (citing Hibbert with approval); Harrah's 7 Entertainment, Inc. v. JCC Holding Co., 802 A.2d 294 (Del. Ch. 2002); In Re Explorer 8 Pipeline Co., 781 A.2d 705 (Del. Ch. 2001). For example, in Harrah's, the Court 9 reasoned: 10

I begin my resolution of this case with the discussion of the applicable contract principles. In general terms, corporate instruments . . . are interpreted in the same manner as other contracts (citing Hibbert). Absent ambiguity, their meaning is determined solely by reference to their language. (Citations omitted). To demonstrate ambiguity, a party must show that the instruments in question can be reasonably read to have two or more meanings. (Footnotes omitted). And "merely because the thoughts of party litigants may differ relating to the meaning of stated language does not in itself establish in a legal sense that the language is ambiguous." (Citations omitted).

E. The Developments Operating Agreement Should Be Enforced

According to its Terms

The Court must look first to the language of the Developments Agreement. See Section 10, supra. Further, because the Developments Agreement is plain and unambiguous, the Delaware parol evidence rule prevents this Court from looking beyond the language of the Developments Agreement. See Section F, infra.

The Developments Agreement permits Mr. Ansley to perform the functions customarily performed by a chief executive officer and president of a corporation under the laws of the state of Delaware. (SOF ¶¶ 31-32.) Mr. Ansley's actions with respect to the refinancing comport with those permitted of a president and chief executive officer under Delaware law. See In re Walt Disney Co. Derivative Litigation, 2005 WL 2056651 (Del. Ch. 2005) (holding that the C.E.O. of Walt Disney Co. violated no fiduciary duties in unilaterally terminating the president of Walt Disney Co., even though the termination resulted in the payment of a severance package totaling $140 million).

Further, under general principles of corporate law, where a Board of Directors is 7 deadlocked, a chief executive officer's inherent powers to act are expanded. A corporate 8 officer's authority may be extended or varied implicitly "if by reason of emergency or 9 necessity it becomes impossible for [the officer] to protect his or her principal's property 10 or interests by a strict compliance with the [officer's] usual or regular authority." 2 11 FLETCHUR CYCLOPEDIA OF THE LAW OF PRIVATE CORPORATIONS § 443 12 (1998); see also Management Technologies, Inc. v. Morris, 961 F.Supp. 640, 648 13 (S.D.N.Y. 1997) ("[T]he law of agency teaches that corporate officers, acting in good 14 faith and with reasonable discretion, implicitly are empowered to protect the corporation 15 where emergency or necessity requires action beyond their usual or regular authority."); 16 Stengel v. Rotman, 2001 WL 221512 (Del. Ch. 2001) (noting the possibility that an action 17 taken by a CEO without board approval may have been justified given that the board of 18 directors was deadlocked and that the action was taken to prevent "further imminent harm 19 to the company"). 20

Here, the Developments Agreement authorizes Mr. Ansley to continue as president and chief executive officer of Developments until he dies, is removed or replaced, or resigns. (SOF ¶ 33.) The Board of Directors of Developments is not likely to replace Mr. Ansley because it will probably be deadlocked. (SOF ¶ 11.) Resort Holdings, the sole member of Developments, is not likely to reconstitute the Board of Directors to replace Mr. Ansley because the Board of Directors of Holdings (the sole member of Resort Holdings) is deadlocked, too. (SOF ¶ 12.) Therefore, until he dies, is removed or replaced. or resigns, Mr. Ansley has the right – indeed the duty – to act in the best interests of Developments by obtaining refinancing of the Senior Debt and the Mezzanine Debt.

26

F. This Court Should Not Consider The Terms Of The Holdings Agreement

Willowbend has taken the position that the business affairs of Developments are governed, not by the Developments Agreement, but instead by the Holdings Agreement.
(SOF ¶ 37.) This argument is unavailing and violates the following fundamental principles of contract law.

First, where the terms of an agreement are clear and unambiguous, the parol evidence rule "bars the admission or consideration of extrinsic evidence to modify or amend" an agreement. Carlson v. Hallinan, 2006 WL 771722, *7 (Del.Ch. 2006). Here, Willowbend seeks to modify the terms of the Developments Agreement. Because the Developments Agreement is clear and unambiguous, the parol evidence rule bars any reference to the Holdings Agreement.

16 Second, the Developments Agreement contains an integration clause providing that 17 the "Agreement contains the entire agreement of [Resort Holdings] with respect to the 18 subject matter [thereof], supersedes all prior agreements relating to the subject matter 19 thereof and may not be changed, altered, or amended, except by a written instrument 20 signed by [Resort Holdings]." (SOF \P 36.) Willowbend has admitted that, in order for it 21 to prevail on its argument that the language of the Holdings Agreement controls, the Court 22 would have to ignore the Integration Clause contained in the Developments Agreement. 23 (SOF ¶ 39.) That clause is clear, unambiguous and not contradicted by any other 24 language contained in the Developments Agreement. Consequently, this Court should not 25 ignore the importance and relevance of that provision.

Third, a contract may not incorporate another document by reference unless the document is in existence at the time of the execution of the contract and unless it 1 incorporates that document explicitly. See Skouras v. Admiralty Enterprises, Inc., 386 2 A.2d 674, 678 (Del.Ch. 1978) ("The strict requirements for incorporating by reference and 3 otherwise independent document are that such document be in existence when the 4 incorporating document is executed and that the document to be incorporated is referred 5 to so as to reasonably identify it."). The Developments Agreement does not explicitly, or 6 even implicitly, incorporate by reference the Holdings Agreement. (SOF ¶ 47.) Nor does 7 the Holdings Agreement incorporate by reference the Developments Agreement, which 8 was not even in existence at the time that the Holdings Agreement was drafted. (SOF ¶ 9 41-42, 46.) If the parties had truly intended that the instruments be read together, or that 10 the Holdings Agreement controlled, it could easily have indicated that intent in the terms 11 of the Developments Agreement. It did not. 12

Fourth, contract interpretation may not add a limitation "not found in the plain 13 language of the document." See Emmons v. Hartford Underwriters Ins. Co., 697 A.2d 14 742 (1997), 746-747 (Del. Supr. 1997). Willowbend's requested incorporation of the 15 Holdings Agreement into the Developments Agreement would add a limitation to the 16 authority of Mr. Ansley granted by the Developments Agreement, a limitation not present 17 in the four corners of the Developments Agreement. Consequently, an interpretation of 18 the Developments Agreement that limits Mr. Ansley's authority on the basis of provisions 19 contained in the Holdings Agreement would controvene general principles of contract 20 law. 21

Fifth, Willowbend's contention that the Developments Agreement is merely a "boilerplate agreement" or "placeholder" asks this Court to ignore the very existence of a contract. (SOF ¶ 49.) This violates the essence of contract law. See Bond Purchase, L.L.C. v. Patriot Tax Credit Properties, L.P., 1999 WL 669358, *4 (Del. Ch. 1999) (holding that the Court's interpretation of boilerplate partnership provisions "will not be dictated by the purported but indiscernible intent of the drafters of those provisions, especially when that intent is inconsistent with the rights the partnership agreement creates on its face."). The Court in Bond Purchase explained the rationale for its holding as follows:

[T]he drafters of Delaware limited partnership agreements draft the agreements in the way they think best articulates the rules that the partnerships and their investors want to govern their respective partnerships. Then, in the event of litigation over those provisions, this Court interprets the provisions. If the parties dispute the partnership agreement's meaning, this Court will apply the settled rules of contract construction to interpret the partnership agreement. If this Court interprets the provision in a way that is consistent with the provision on its face, but inconsistent with the drafters' indiscernible intent, the drafters must reconsider their drafting techniques so that the provisions in the partnership agreement effectively communicate the terms they purportedly intended them to convey.

Id. Here, the Court must not ignore the provisions of the Developments Agreement merely because Willowbend contends that it is a meaningless boilerplate agreement.
 Willowbend is bound by the contractual language that it chooses. For these reasons, Developments requests this Court to decline to interpret the provisions of the Developments Agreement through reference to the Holdings Agreement.

G. Developments Should be Awarded Costs and Attorneys' Fees

Ordinarily, in a declaratory judgment action concerning the proper interpretation of a contract, the prevailing party can seek an award of attorney fees and recover its costs.
 A.R.S. § 12-341.01.

22 IV. CONCLUSION

The Court should find, pursuant to Ariz.R.Civ.P. 52(a), that:

The Developments operating agreement is clear and unambiguous and is the one and only agreement that governs and controls Developments; and
